MISSOURI IS SPLIT OVER HERB AND AL

Western Part Strong for Hoover While East Likely to Go Smith

MANY DOUBTFUL SIDES

Drift for Governor Is Unmistakable in St. Louis, Lawrence Finds

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1928, by Post Pub. Co.

Kansas City, Mo.— Western Missouri is for Hoover and hopes eastern Missouri will not prove so strong for Smith as to given him the state.

This sums up in a nutshell the views of the campaign managers and the Hoover men generally who have their entire faith in the large vote they expect to give him in Jackson-co which includes Kansas City and the big defections reported from the Democratic ranks in the southern end of the state where the Klan and prohibition are turning Democrats to the Republican ticket.

There is unquestionably a militant Hoover sentiment here. It developed long before the Republican national convention. The friends of Governor Lowden who essayed to capture Missouri's delegation found themselves blocked by Hooverism in the western section. McNary-Haugenism has never been held up to the farmers of this region as a panacea in fact it has been constantly hammered. The newspapers— the Star and Journal Post—are strong for Herbert Hoover and the Democratic organization, while in control of city affairs, is not in popular favor nowadays. The registration in Kansas City shows a material increase but there's no telling what side will be the beneficiary.

REMEMBER REED CASE

Memories of what happened to its own favorite son, Jim Reed, are being revived in analyzing Smith's chances. The senator was known as a wet and should have received in 1922 in his own neighborhood a substantial vote. But Brewster, a dry, carried Jackson-co against him and were it not for the moisture of St. Louis-co, the senior senator from Missouri would have been retired to private life. Incidentally, Mr. Reed's own candidate this year was defeated in the Democratic primaries by a dry.

So with the Republicans quite sure that dry votes will be coming their way in large numbers, there is a tendency to look at the trend very much as in the Reed campaign. In other words, Hoover is expected to come out of Kansas City with 15,000 majority and to roll up some more in the rural districts so that if he comes to St. Louis with 50,000 it would require a majority of something better than that for Smith in St. Louis to overcome the lead and win the state.

In St. Louis, the drift to Smith is unmistakable. The question is how strong will it be on election day. Some disinterested observers whose judgment in the past has been unfailing place the Smith majority in St. Louis at 75,000. If, of course, that is realized, the electoral vote will go to Smith.

HAWES SEES VICTORY

Senator Harry Hawes is of the opinion that the Democratic losses in the state at large will not be considerable and the gains from the Republican ranks will offset Democratic desertions. It should be remembered that one third of Missouri's vote is cast in the cities and that two thirds—really the balance of power—is held by the country districts. Heretofore the assumption has been that St. Louis and Kansas City determined Missouri's political complexion in the electoral college but that has been because the country vote could be estimated precisely. It was as solid as the solid south. But rural Missouri has become a changeable factor. It is an unknown quantity. There is much more certainty about what Kansas City and St. Louis will do under given circumstances than the country. For one thing the percentage affected by prohibition and religious prejudice can be estimated by precinct canvasses fairly well and there is no doubt that the German vote in St. Louis is going to help swell the Democratic majority. But what of the country? Are the anti-Catholic voters in the majority and will they vote the Republican ticket or stay away from the polls.

WALTER JOHNSON HEADS WASHINGTON BALL CLUB

Washington —(AP)— Walter Johnson, famous ex-pitcher of the Washington baseball team, American League, singed a three year contract Monday as manager of that team. The terms of the contract were not made public.

SLAYER OF TWO GOES TO TRIAL IN STATE

Milwaukee—(AP)— Louis Marvin Payne, the former volunteer mission worker who shot and killed his wife, Frances, and Fate Plafrey, a friend, when he found them together in the boarder's bedroom, went on trial Monday for the double killing.

Through his attorneys, Payne maintained that, motivated by the unwritten law of the south that gives a husband the right to defend the sancity of his home, he shot at the interloper when he saw unmistakable evidence of infidelity.

BLAINE WILL BACK SMITH IN ELECTION

Wisconsin Senator Declares Definitely for Democratic Candidate

Boscobel— (AP) — John J. Blaine, United States senator and former governor of Wisconsin, a Progressive Republican, Monday announced his support for Governor Smith of New York, for president. He enumerated several reasons why he could support Smith, then listed more why he would support the New York governor.

Three weeks ago he said Hoover "is opposed to practically all of the policies of the great mass of Progressive Republicans and independents, forward thinking people of America. Other Progressive leaders have previously announced their support for Smith and for the Democratic nominee for governor of Wisconsin.

Then Senator Blaine said Smith on his western campaign, "has spoken fearlessly and courageously. He has challenged corruption in high places. He has defied privilege in any form and has thrown to the winds every consideration of political expediency."

GIVES FURTHER REASONS

Further reasons why he "could" support Smith, as he listed them were: "from the record of his administration as governor he possesses a genius and leadership that gets things done. He has won through the people over legislatures that refused to carry out the will of the people as he saw it. He possesses a Lincoln genius and a Jefferson leadership."

Then for these reasons "I shall actively support him:"

"He recognizes the true cause of farm depression, namely exportable surpluses. He proposes to control these . . . with an adequate tariff that is a permanent and sound policy . . ..

"Opposed to imperialism in the republics of hte south of us or elsewhere and opposed to all foreign entanglements.

"Consistently fought to conserve the last natural resources possessed by the people, namely, water powers, and stands for government ownership."

"Possesses a courage that will ruthlessly drive corruption out of public affairs. Stands for an election machinery that will give the people the right to control their government, through direct primaries.

Offers a constructive and constitutional program for modification of the Volstead act that will promote moderation and temperance. Is on the square with the working man. Is in all essentials a liberal and a progressive."

LAWYER FROM ANTIGO DIES AT HOSPITAL

Wife, Child in Hospital With Injuries Received in Crash Near Clintonville

Ervin L. White, 35, Antigo, Democratic candidate for district attorney of Langlade-co. and one of Antigo's most prominent citizen's died at St. Elizabeth hospital here about 9 o'clock Monday morning from a fractured skull received when his car turned over on a curve on County Trunk D about four miles north of Clintonville at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Mrs. White, 35, is in a critical condition at the hospital with a possible fractured spine, a fracture of the left leg, and other bruises and shock. Mary, 10-year-old daughter of the Whites, suffered severe cuts about the face, legs and arms, and Betty, a twin sister, was uninjured. Mrs. A. C. Cass, Viroqua, said to be Mrs. White's mother, suffered a fracture of the left wrist, body bruises, and shock.

The party was going north on its way home from the southern part of the state where Mr. White had attended a Kiwanis club meeting. He is president of the Antigo Kiwanis club.

Evidently unfamiliar with the highway, Mr. White's car tipped over as he attempted to make a sharp turn in the middle of a hill. The big sedan was demolished.

Witnesses called an ambulance from Clintonville and the entire party was taken to the hospital here.

Mr. White, in addition to being president of the Kiwanis club in Antigo, was president of the Antigo school board, a member of the American legion and the Antigo Elks club, and a reserve officer in the United States army.

FRACTURES HIS ARM

Elmer Lippert, Chicago, suffered a broken left arm and body bruises and cuts about 11 o'clock Saturday night when the car in which he was driving to Appleton to visit relatives turned over in the ditch on Highway 41 at Fond du Lac. Lippert was on his way to visit his mother, Mrs. Augusta Weyenberg, and sister, Mrs. Theodore Springer, Jr., 1322 W. Lawrence-st. He said he attempted to pass two cars that were parked on the road. He was taken to a Fond du Lac hospital Saturday night and brought to an Appleton hospital Sunday. He will be confined for about three weeks.

STEPHENSON BRINGS NEW CHARGE AGAINST EVANS

Michigan City—(AP)—D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, told Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom at the state prison Monday that he could prove that Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the klan, was responsible for the fatal shooting of Col. W. S. Coburn, Atlanta, Ga., in 1923.

The assertion was made when Stephenson was giving the attorney general a deposition for use in a suit brought by the state to oust the klan in Indiana.

Stephenson, life-term prisoner, said he could prove in court that Wizard Evans had "Poisoned the mind of Phil Fox," the man who did the shooting. Stephenson said Evans had told him on several ocasions that Coburn must be removed, or that he, Evans, would be ruined.

Open New Tong Warfare In Three American Cities

New York —(AP)— Chinese tongs were at war again Monday. The death toll soon after the outbreak Sunday was: one in Chicago, one in New York, one in Philadelphia, two in Washington. Police guarded Chinese sections of these and other cities.

As Wong Chu, a New York waiter, played cards with a dozen other Hip Sing Tongsmen in his apartment, a gunman described as an On Leong pushed open the door, shot Wong Chu four times and killed him and then turned the gun on Wong Wai, wounding him.

Eng Pak, a restaurant cook and member of the Hip Sing tong, was shot by two men as he sat in a taxi in the heart of Chicago's On Leong tong neighborhood. Less than two hours later two laundrymen believed to be Hip Sings were killed in the On Leong district by Chinese who escaped.

Linsing, 72, of Boston, an On Leong, was killed in a pistol duel with two Chinese in Philadelphia. Police were informed by several taxidrivers that prior to the shooting they had taken to the railroad station a number of Chinese who appeared from their conversation to be bound for Chicago.

Two Chinese were killed and two others wounded in the outbreak of tong warfare in Washington. Police said the killer was an On Leong but they believed he had made a mistake in his victims as these were not known to be affiliated with any tong. Twenty-one suspected tongsmen were arrested.

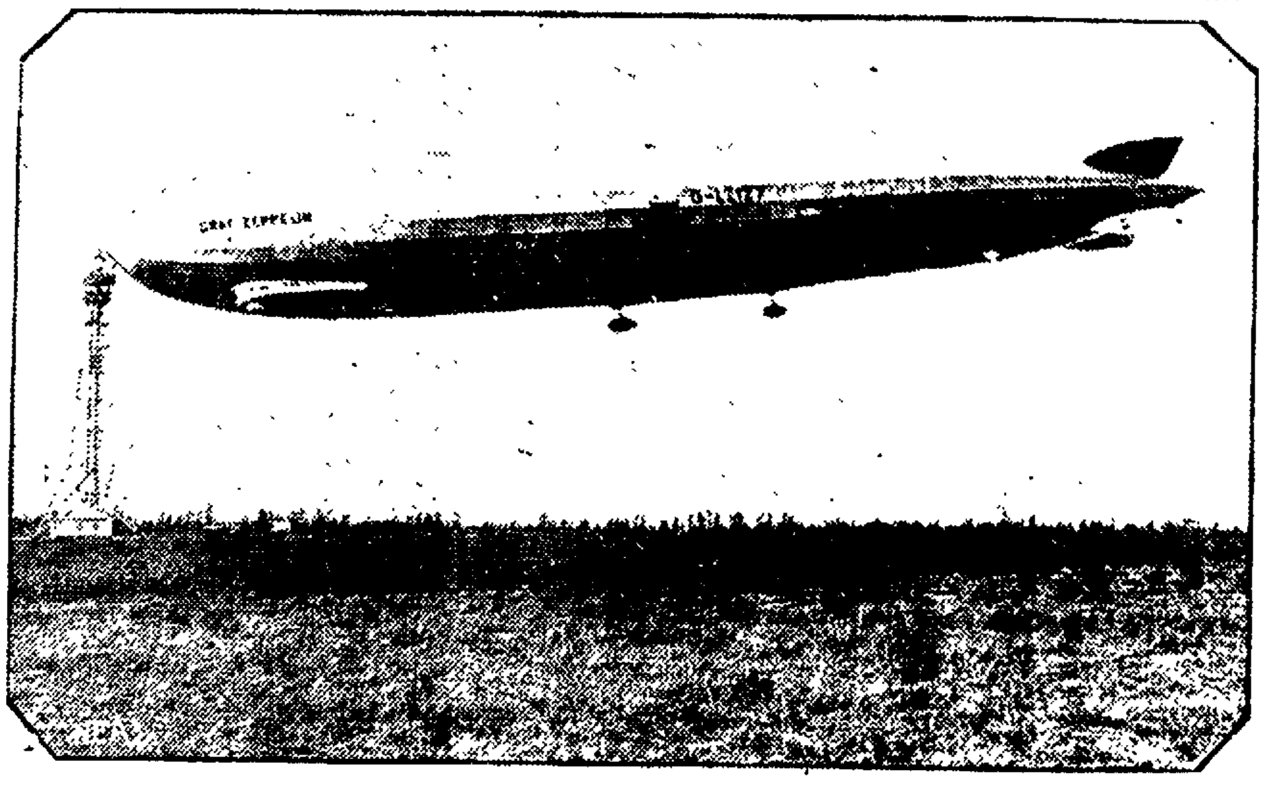
The two tongs, ancient rivals, had been at peace since the signing of a formal pact March 27, 1927, after a series of outbreaks.

LIKE GANG MURDERS

Chicago —(AP)— Flames of tong war, kindled by a gambling dispute in New York leaped the intervening miles Sunday night, and one Chinese here paid with his life.

Oriental vengeance was coupled with Occidental technique in the assassination of Eng Pak, 40, a member of the Hip Sing tong, who was put "on the spot" and shot dead in front of the Toy Den Quay theatre on Archer-ave. His slayers, two Chinese, fled through the streets of Chicago's Chinatown, escaping.

How Graf Zeppelin Will Look at Mooring Mast



The giant Graf Zeppelin, after flying many hundreds of miles off her course to out-maneuver storms between Friedrichshafen, Germany, and Lakehurst, N. J., here is shown in a composite photograph as she will appear when moored to the 162-foot mast on the field at Lakehurst. This mast, erected for the navy dirigibles Los Angeles and the ill-fated Shenandoah, was to be used by the Graf ship if the wind made difficult her being brought to the ground.

Admits That Murder Tale Is Only Hoax

Youth Who "Confessed" Shooting in Milwaukee Retracts Statement

Milwaukee—(AP)— Act 1: (In the Milwaukee police department; Police Sergeant Harry McCrory busy fingerprinting Harold Rogers, 19, of Peoria, Ill., held on a forgery charge):

Rogers: "I am the man that shot and killed Emil Mussweiler." (Business of surprise on the part of McCrory, et al.)

Act 2: Two hours and three confessions later—same place:

Rogers: "I didn't kill Mussweiler; that story was a hoax." (Business of explanation).

That summarizes what hapened to a "solution" of a budding murder mystery.

Rogers confessed early Saturday afternoon that he killed Mussweiler, 73-year-old grocer, in an attempted holdup. Then he made three other confessions to the same "crime"; police began to get a little doubtful. Finally he admitted that his murder tales were a hoax.

Rogers, arrested on a forgery charge, will be prosecuted for just that. Police were certain that no murder warrant would be needed but, a little dizzy from his rapid-fire stories, were interested in finding out what made him come forth with his "confessions." They were certain that Rogers was a good reader of newspapers.

OUT OF MONEY

One reason advanced for Rogers' startling statement was that he had but little money and wanted a warm home for the winter, such as the county jail might provide. Police could advance no other reason.

After he had disclosed the first startling fact, police began to question and requestion him. His stories failed to dovetail. Finally he admitted the hoax. What further convinced police that he had had nothing to do with the shooting was word from Peoria that he had at one time been confined to the Peoria State hospital and the Lincoln Home for the Feeble-minded, but had escaped.

The aged man who Rogers had said he shot and killed was a grocer who lived with his wife in back of their store here.

About closing time Sept. 25, a young unmasked gunman entered the store and ordered "Dad" to hand over his cash. Mussweiler refused, and the robber fired, wounding him fatally, and fled.

MARKHAM SAYS REILLY MADE POLITICAL DEAL

Milwaukee—(AP)—State Senator W. H. Markham, Horicon, independent Republican candidate for United States senator, Monday charged that M. K. Reilly withdrew as the Democratic nominee against Senator La Follette because of a political deal. Markham said he announced his own independent candidacy [illegible] the mask of political trickery in Wisconsin had been lifted."

CHICAGOAN IS KILLED RETURNING FROM GAME

Eau Claire—(AP)—Leo Faust of Chicago, was killed and two companions injured when a train crashed into the automobile in which they were riding on the return trip from the Minnesota-Purdue game at Minneapolis near Augusta late Saturday night. Cal Congratulates Zep's Boss, German President

Washington—(AP) — President Coolidge Monday radioed his congratulations to Dr. Hugo Eckener on board the airship Graf Zeppelin on his successful crossing of the Atlantic. Simultaneously he cabled congratulations to President von Hindenburg of Germany.

From the airship Dr. Eckener had radioed Mr. Coolidge as follows:

"At the moment of reaching the American coast line on this diversified and very interesting initial crossing of the Atlantic ocean by airship with passengers and mail from Germany to America in which we had as comrade and experienced friend Lieutenant Commander Rosendahl of the United States navy, the commander and crew of the Graf Zeppelin beg to extend to the president of the United States their most respectful greeting."

President Coolidge's cable to Lieutenant von Hindenburg:

"I wish to congratulate you upon the splendid achievement of your compatriots in accomplishing the voyage from Germany to the United States on the 'Graf Zeppelin.' This flight has filled the American people with admiration and has marked another step in the progress of the development of air communication."

Washington—(AP)—The giant dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, which for four days has battled through storm weather over the Atlantic, enroute from Germany to Lakehurst, N. J., arrived over Washington at 12:21 Monday afternoon. The big craft was sighted from the east and approached the city over the capitol building. The sky was overcast. The airship was traveling rapidly, assisted by a tail wind of approximately 20 miles an hour. She loomed up in the east when thousands of spectators from roofs of buildings were looking toward the south and southeast for her. She bulked huge in the clouds as she traveled steadily toward the heart of the city.

The big airship circled directly over the business heart of Washington as it made its way to pass above the White House. She was close down above the heads of the fringe of people on every high roof. The sound of her motors drummed in the streets below, calling attention of passersby who stopped to stare up at the gigantic vessel.

As the ship approached the White House, President Coolidge left his desk and went out in front of the executive offices to stand a moment, almost unnoticed in the little group gathered there. He stared up at the ship, bareheaded for a minute, then turned back into his work room.

Circling after passing over the White House she headed out for Baltimore with a dozen airplanes roaring alongside her.

Los Angeles Prepared To Rush To Help Of Sister

Lakehurst, N. J.—(AP)—The little sister of the world's biggest airship was ready Monday for rescue work.

Four years ago Monday the U. S. S. Los Angeles arrived at the naval air station after a flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany, and Monday gas filled and fuelled and ready for the air, it was in condition, should conditions warrant, to offer assistance to the Graf Zeppelin feeling its tortuous way to Lakehurst from Friedrichshafen.

Just what assistance the Los Angeles could have given the Graf if the larger ship should have run out of fuel or prove to be more seriously disabled than reports of a damaged fin Sunday indicated, remained a matter of conjecture. Officers asserted it was far from an impossibility that the smaller ship might drop a tow line to the newcomer and tow her into port like any tug escorting a liner.

If this procedure had proved impractical, it still might have been possible to lower fuel for continuance of the journey from one ship to the other.

No real anxiety was felt for the Graf Zeppelin, however, despite its many hours in the air.

Roads for miles about the hangar were congested with tangled traffic composed of the thousands of automobiles which on Sunday [illegible] to see the overseas ship [illegible] when it was learned that the Zeppelin would not arrive until Monday. It was the worst traffic snarl in the history of the state police who labored through the night to unravel it and thousands slept in cars blocked from all progress.

And they slept hungry, hundreds of them, for the food supplies of the air station and surrounding communities were inadequate to take care of the rush of visitors.

But for all its hardship of being jammed along the roads without hope of food or comfortable sleep the crowds were apparently good spirited and there was little irritated blowing of horns or vocal complaint.

GIANT DIRIGIBLE FLIES OVER NEW YORK ON WAY TO JERSEY

Bulletins On Flight Of Blimp

Washington—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin will visit New York before going to Lakehurst, according to an incomplete intercepted message picked up by the naval radio. The message, given out as unofficial, said that the ship would complete the cruise of 6,000 miles and would have fuel left over to keep going for approximately 65 hours.

Mitchel Field, N. Y.—(AP)—Nine army airplanes were ordered by the war department to leave Mitchel Field at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon to escort the Graf Zeppelin to Lakehurst. The squadron, carrying reporters and cameramen, planned to fly south until it picked up the dirigible. The planes will return to the field without landing at Lakehurst.

Baltimore, Md.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin passed over Baltimore at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon and was hailed by an uproar of whistles from shops and harbor boats.

Lewes, Del.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin was reported as passing over Cambridge, Md., at 11:50, heading up Chesapeake bay.

Lewis, Del.— —A wireless message received here at 9:50 Monday morning from the oil Tanker E. W. Sinclair said the Graf Zeppelin was headed for Hampton roads and should reach there by about 10:05.

Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J.—(AP)—Radio compass bearings taken by radio stations here and both along the eastern coast at 8:05 Monday morning, eastern standard time put the Graf Zeppelin 300 miles southwest of Lakehurst, according to an announcement by officers here. The Graf Zeppelin, Germany's greatest leviathan of the air, saluted the capital of the United States Monday afternoon and then showed her silvery sides high in the air to thousands in other cities before turning to her waiting berth in Lakehurst, N. J.

Making landfall on the American continent near Cape Charles, Va., at about 10 o'clock, the airship cruised up the Chesapeake and arrived over Washington at 12:21. Baltimore whistles acclaimed her first successful commercial air crossing of the Atlantic at exactly 1 o'clock. The next city on her calling list was Wilmington and then Philadelphia.

The dirigible, nearing the end of her 6,500 odd mile flight from Friedrichshafen, had eclipsed all previous records for sustained flight by her type of aircraft.

The old Zeppelin record of 101 hours fell at 7 a. m. The mark of the ill-fated French Dixmude, which had remained aloft for 104 hours was broken at 10 o'clock Monday morning, and the world record of 108 hours made by the English R-34, in her westward Atlantic flight was in the discard at 2 o'clock when the Graf Zeppelin was over Elkton, Md.

The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, bringing the first trans-atlantic air passengers to the United States, Monday was showing them some of the chief sights of the Mid-Atlantic seaboard and at the same time satisfying the throngs who had awaited her coming from Friedrichshafen.

The biggest airship of the day first passed over American ground after her long ocean voyage at about 10 o'clock Monday morning, near Cape Charles, the northern sentinel of Chesapeake bay.

A radio message from her said that she would visit Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia and would reach the waiting hangar at Lakehurst at about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

SHIPS SEND MESSAGES

To supplement the radio, which with occasional ships had provided the only information of her whereabouts for days, there came frequent reports of her progress from Virginia and Maryland towns as she passed up Chesapeake bay toward Washington and as she was sighted over that city.

All was in readiness for her arrival and everything beside America's own dirigible, Los Angeles, and fast airplanes were on the mark to give her escort on the last few miles of her journey.

At 2 o'clock Monday morning, eastern standard time, the ship had been in the air 85 hours with the likelihood that the entire trip would take her about 109 hours.

HUNTS FAVORABLE COURSE

All through the early hours of Saturday night and for a great part of Sunday, the airship hovered in the region of the Bermudas.

HOOVER READY FOR BAY STATE ADDRESS

Tariff, Foreign Trade and Merchant Marine Will Be Discussed in Speech

BY JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer

Hoover Train, Enroute to Boston —(AP)—Herbert Hoover journeyed to New England Monday to throw his own weight into the presidential fight in this usual stronghold of Republicanism.

His personal campaigning was limited to a day and a night and confined to the state of Massachusetts. It begins early at the city of Springfield and will end late Monday night with his prepared address at the Arena in Boston where he will discuss the tariff, foreign trade and the merchant marine.

Before reaching Boston, two speeches were planned, one on a platform near the track where his train will stop at Springfield and the other in front of the station at Worcester.

In Boston, itself, two speeches were on the program in addition to the principal address in the evening.

Leaders from Massachusetts and neighboring states were invited to confer with the nominee during the afternoon, for the purpose of planning strategy for the remainder of the campaign.

HOLDUP MAN IS SENT TO PRISON FOR 1 TO 4 YEARS

Arrest Man Short Time After Robbery at Trass' Grocery Saturday Night

William Lyons, 29, who gave his address as Chicago and St. Louis, was sentenced to from one to four years in the state reformatory at Green Bay by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday morning when he pleaded guilty of robbery without a gun.

Calmly walking into Traas' Grocery store, 524 E. College-ave, about 8 o'clock Saturday night Lyons, with his hand in the side pocket of his coat, ordered Henry W. Tillman, manager, to:

"Point to the sky. This is a holdup and no foolin'. Take the money from the cash register and dump it in my side pocket."

Tillman followed instructions and placed about $19 in silver coins in Lyons' pocket and the latter then walked out of the store. Tillman immediately called the police and they searched the neighborhood but were unable to find him.

A few minutes later the police received a telephone call from a doctor who said a drunken man had tried to sell him a lottery ticket. The man had boarded a west bound local street car and left it at the end of the line on W. College-ave, the police learned, and rushing there Police Chief Prim and Officer Radtke arrested Lyons. He didn't have a gun but he had the money taken from Traas' store.

Lyons was under the influence of liquor when he was arrested, according to Chief Prim.

He had been working with a section crew on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at Kimberly.

He admitted the holdup and Monday morning in court he waived preliminary examination and pleaded guilty.

day, and came across the ocean as a young man, settling first in Hamilton, Ont., where he earned his livelihood as a pack peddler. While there is no definite record when he came to Appleton, old-time residents recall he was here near Civil war days and was engaged in the business of trading horses and cattle. In the early days his principal business was cattle and oxen trading in the firm of D. Hammel and Co. For many years his sales stables were located at the northeast corner of Washington and Morrison-sts and later, after he withdrew from the original firm of D. Hammel and Co. he maintained his staple at the southeast corner of Washington and Morrison-sts. A few years later he erected the building now occupied by the Appleton fire department which was used as a sales stable and later by the Crescent Knitting Co. which h. organized.

ELECTED MAYOR

Mr. Hammel was elected mayor the first time in the spring of 1900, succeeding Herman Erb. Jr. He was reelected in 1901, 1902 and 1903, and in 1904 was succeeded by Frank W. Harriman. In 1906 Mr. Hammel again was elected mayor, serving in 1906 and 1907.

It was during the latter part of Mr. Hammel's early term as mayor that the litigation between the Appleton Waterworks Co. and the city of Appleton got underway and the suit started in the late winter of 1904, during the last few month's Mr. Hammel's term, still is in the federal courts. The John-st. bridge, long famous as one of the longest stone arch bridges in the country, was built during Mr. Hammel's term.

Shortly after Mr. Hammel left the city hall he moved from Appleton to Austin, Minn., where he was engaged in horse and cattle trading for a few years until his health failed him and he moved to Chicago to live with his sons who were engaged in business there. Mr. Hammel visited at Appleton at infrequent intervals until about two years ago when he was stricken with paralysis which left him more or less helpless and deprived him of his speech.

Mr. Hammel served the city as mayor longer than any other man except G. N. Richmond who was mayor for seven years, in 1868, 1869, 1871, 1883, 1884, 1885 and 1886.

ADVOCATE LICENSES FOR MEAT DEALERS

Food Commissioner Says Such Action Would Please Public

Sheboygan—(AP)—That the Market Men's association can have its membership as a certificate of character and measure of respect in the meat business was the belief of C. J. Kremer, state dairy and food commissioner, in an address here Monday before the convention of the organization.

Licensing has not been favorably understood, and the commissioner said that if memberships were granted solely to men who represented the highest in meat business ethics, the public would appreciate such action.

"Federal inspection is good and efficient, but one-third of meats have no inspection. This meat comes largely from animals that might not be wholly passed for food by Federal inspectors, and market men, therefore should be inspectors of such meat," Mr. Kremer said.

The license law should not be foisted on the market man by the state or city government, but should be the outgrowth of the dealer's own convictions. Such a thing could be guaranteed by restrictive membership.

Mr. Kremer was emphatic in reference to sausage manufacturers, asserting for competent scrupulous producers.

"Nothing is in the way of debasing sausage with water or inferior materials and doubtful meats and other ingredients but the character of the man behind the sausage," the commissioner said.

The speaker advocated a grading of meats and a system of education to acquaint the housewife with the differentiations.

RAILROAD UNION MAN COMES OUT FOR SMITH

Madison—(AP)—Roy Empey, Green Bay, delegate to several national conventions of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and legislative representative of the brotherhood, is the latest Republican to announce himself for Al Smith, Progressive Republican Al Smith for President Club headquarters here announced today.

"Smith has been endorsed by the New York State Federation of Labor," he said in a statement, "and by the Massachusetts State Federation. He has been a public life since 1903 and organized labor has never endorsed, nor supported any candidate who ever opposed him.

"It is doubtful if any governor has a lobor record which equals that of Al Smith. When he was last a candidate for Governor, all organized labor in the state of New York endorsed the Progressive, Smith, and contributed largely to his election by overwhelming majority.'"

LETTER GOLF

HELP'S AT HAND

If HARM is at hand, HELP isn't far off, at least not in letter golf. Par for today is four and one solution is on page 9.

H	A	R	M
H	E	L	P

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

SCHUMAN GIVES KOHLER SUPPORT

Farm Relief Plank of Republican Candidate Pleases State Senator

Watertown—State Senator John C. Schuman, who supported Gov. Zimmerman in the primary campaign, Monday, gave his indorsement of Walter J. Kohler, Republican candidate for governor.

Senator Schuman, a dirt farmer, who organized the Watertown Milk Producers' Co-operative association, said he would "support Mr. Kohler on the basis of the platform on which he stands, particularly with regard to the farm relief plank of that platform, which was adopted at the Republican state platform convention."

Pointing out that Mr. Kohler "advocates such legislation as will aid cooperative organizations to increase and maintain membership, secure adequate and sound financing and promote the coordination and strengthening of their marketing activities," Senator Schuman said.

"Mr. Kohler was the choice of Wisconsin voters in the Republican primary. As such, he should have the support of all Republicans.

"He stands four square for farm relief, the problem in which I am most interested. He has said that the farm industry does not now enjoy the prosperity of other business enterprises, and the independent farmer is in distress.' He thus recognizes the need for relief."

SCHOOLS NEED NOT GIVE PUPILS RIDES

Court Finds Parents Can Furnish Transportation at District's Cost

Madison —(AP)— The recent opinion of the state supreme court in the case of Leo Hein versus the clerk of the School board in the town of Sherman, Clark-co. "is of wide interest to school patrons and officers, especially in cases where there are children living two miles or more from school," said the department of public instruction in a letter to county superintendents Monday.

The case was one in which Mr. Hein attempted to force the school board to provide transportation for his two children, to school. His demand was based on a state law calling for school boards to furnish such transportation. The board balked, however, and Hein appealed to the district court which ordered the board, through a wit of mandamus, to perform the task. The board, however, appealed to the supreme court and that body upset the lower court.

Reciting the history of the statute in which there was confusion over the legislature's intent to make consolidated or smaller schools provide transportation, the high court held it to be "ambiguous,' then quoted that portion of the law which says "and if it fails to provide transportation the parents may provide (it) and shall be paid therefore by the district at the rate. . ."

The court then held that where a statute prescribes a procedure the procedure so prescribed is exclusive of any other remedy." or that the next best thing was for the parents to provide transportation and put in a bill for it at the legal rates. The court concluded "If we are in error, the legislature at its next session can make its intention more explicit.'

WARDENS ORDERED TO WATCH HORICON MARSH

Madison—(AP)—Although the Wisconsin conservation commission cannot make arrests on Horicon Marsh because of injunction proceedings, wardens in that district have been instructed to keep a close watch on the marsh.

The injunction proceedings now in process are being served on each of the six conservation commissioners, on Director L. B. Nagler, and on Chief warden H. W. MacKenzie. The papers include an order to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued to prevent the conservation commission from enforcing the wild life refuge which has been established on Horicon marsh, and the commission order declaring a closed season on water fowl in all parts of the four townships which are in or border the marsh.

The conservation commission is to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent, at a hearing in Dodge county court at Juneau, Oct. 19.

The commission will be represented by T. E. McIntosh of the attorney general's office. Mr. McIntosh has handled all ligigation affecting Horicon for the commission.

Although they make no arrests wardens exercise their other duties and obtain names and other evidence against anyone who shoots on the marsh and prosecutions may take place after the nineteenth if the court upholds the law, the commission says.

Your Question And Its Answer

By J. A. Panneck, D. C.

PALMER CHIROPRACTOR

QUESTION: I am a woman of thirty-nine years and need advice. I am not at all strong, hardly able to do my housework, no appetite, rest poorly at night, have headaches and my back aches across the hips.

I have doctored for years without help, and no one has been able to tell me what causes it, can you?—Mrs. J. H. S.

ANSWER: Pressure on nerves causes your poor health. I, as a Chiropractor, deal with the cause. The cause is due to nerves being pressed upon, over which flows a current of life force (mental impulses) from the brain to the body or organs. The nerves originate in the brain and follow down the spinal cord through the spinal column. The spinal column is composed of small bones (vertebrae) that are movable, and the nerve trunks pass out from the spinal cord through small openings between these little bones (vertebrae). These small bones slip out of their regular positions sometimes, and this pressure decreases or cuts off the normal life force upon which the body is dependent in order to be healthy and function properly. When the pressure is removed from the nerve trunk by Chiropractic Adjustments, the organs must return to normal health. This is true with every disease, depending upon what region of the spine is involved.

I advise you to consult a competent Chiropractor.

QUESTION: Do germs cause disease as claimed by various doctors? What is your view of the germ theory?—H. F. L.

ANSWER: Chiropractors do not deny what can be seen with open eyes, consequently they believe in germs, but they do not believe that germs cause disease. Germs are scavengers and live on diseased, decayed and dead tissue. If you find a dead animal full of scavengers, do you suppose the grubs killed it? Are they not there to eat the dead body? There are very few diseases which are possible when the individual's general health is perfect, or nearly so. If the germ theory were correct there would be no one living to believe it.

'Fair Weather' Hunter Blamed For Accidents

It is the "fair weather" hunter who should be blamed for most accidental shootings during the hunting season, and the one who is to be blamed for, continual violation of game laws, according to local members of the Izaak Walton league, who report that probably more than ordinary trouble is being experienced this year with hunters lacking the spirit of sportsmanship.

Izaak Waltons are the originators of the name "fair weather" hunter, and the name is applicable to men who are over anxious for seasons to open and appear only on ideal hunting days when game is perhaps the thickest and easiest to be found.

The "fair weather" hunter is out for the lust to kill and not for the sport, they point out. He lacks all sense of sportsmanship and is the one who fails to look before he shoots, thus causing the many so-called accidental shootings. It is usually the "fair weather" hunter who is out in open water banging away at ducks and other fowl of the air that are far out of reach of a gun, while the "real" hunter sits in his blind among the reeds, and waits until he is sure he is shooting to kill, and praying that the "fools" won't aim toward shore.

The nature of ducks and similar game must be studied before going hunting. Too many ducks are shot annually that are never used for food, other than fish food. A wounded duck will dive into the water, swim for several yards under water before rising to the surface. Many of them when fatally wounded dive to the bottom, attach themselves to reeds and never appear again. A real sportsman will wait until he is sure of his aim and that his bullet will kill and not wound, experienced hunters say.

The "real" hunters are waiting for the appearance of rough weather when it is safe to go hunting and the "fair weather" hunter hits for a warmer climate. When breezes bite into the skin and snow flurries are prevalent the "fair weather" hunter is probably warming his toes, but at such a time the hunter with a love for the out-of-doors is to be found hitting the trail or sitting quietly in his blinds, it is pointed out.

ATTORNEY ADVOCATES STERILITY LAW CHANGE

Madison—(AP)—The law on sterilization of imbeciles might well be changed by the legislature to include any of these persons who gives his or her consent to such an operation, in the personal opinion of one of the members of the attorney general's staff.

In an opinion to Dr. R. C. Buerki, head of Wisconsin General hospital here, the attorney general's office held that under the law only persons confined to state institutions might be made steril and then only with their consent and if married with the consent of their spouse.

The opinion held that because she is not in a state institution, there was no legal restriction for or against sterilization of a girl who is 16 years of age but has the mentality of a 9-year-old and who has given her consent and obtained that of her fiance to sterilization in order that she may marry. The opinion, however, expresses the personal belief of the writer that the legislature might well provide for sterilization in such cases.

"Electricity!—The New Helper on the Farm"

Says William M. Jardine
Secretary of Agriculture

"Electricity has already made important contributions both to labor saving on the farm and to a more modern, satisfying rural life. I am confident it is going to make further contributions of equal or greater importance."*

WHAT cheap and abundant electric power has done for the industrial worker and his family in the alleviation of drudgery and the betterment of living and economic conditions, it now promises to do for the farmer.

Through the activities of the Committee on Rural Electrification, with the cooperation of electric power companies, farm electrification is a fact today in twenty-three states.

One hundred and forty practical applications of electricity to the farm have already been developed. As a result of the cooperation between farmers and the power companies there has been an increase of approximately eighty-three per cent in the number of farms using electricity in the last three years.

In simplifying the labor problem on the farm; lightening the load of physical toil; and increasing the comfort, convenience and cheer of the farm home, this extension of electrical facilities to rural communities is rendering a social and economic service of utmost national importance.

To insure the continued extension of farm service, it is essential that the American principle of individual initiative, by means of which these advantages have been made possible, should be encouraged and maintained.

BADGER TELEPHONE CO. HAS LIBRARY FOR ITS EMPLOYES

Workers in All Departments, Including Officials, Use Books

Madison —(AP)—A Wisconsin telephone company, to encourage reading among its employes has established a library for reference and educational purposes and according to Miss Merle Hibbert, librarian, is doing a "rushing" business.

The library was established about a year, Miss Hibbert stated, by simply announcing that the company had a collection of books available for distribution and would be glad to prepare special courses of reading for those who wanted to make a study of their job or hobby.

At present, records show that a total of four hundred are enrolled in reading courses, she reported to the Wisconsin Library Bulletin.

Since more than half the company employes are scattered about in towns throughout the state, the librarian said that the mail order system was established. In this way books are sent out and returned in the company mail without expense to the employe. When urgent needs for information develop, the long distance telephone is used.

The library director found that employes like to have books suggested to them and get considerable amount of satisfaction from those suggested as "good." As a result the reading lists that are prepared are much on the order of the American Library Association's list—annotated lists of a half dozen books or so dealing with this or that particular subject.

Registration lists indicate that books on psychology, management problems, English and letter-writing, technical books dealing with the readers particular line of work, recreational travel and biographical collections are most extensively used.

In the opinion of library officials, people are already victims of an overdose of fiction and as a result have withheld with the exception of a few classical novels, this type of reading from the shelves.

Those in charge stated that company officials as well as the young operator, the engineer and members of the clerical forces are frequent library users.

FOUR FARMERS ARE BUILDING NEW SILOS

Four farmers in the vicinity of Appleton are building silos this week. They expect to have them finished in a week so that they can place their corn in them. Jacob Brown, town of Grand Chute, has almost completed work on his silo and hopes to start filling it this week. George Bley, John L. Miller and John Beyer, all in town of Center, started work this week on silos.

CHANGE LOCATION OF ANOTHER VOTING BOOTH

Another change in a voting place in the city has been announced by Carl E. Becher, city clerk. The polling place formerly at the corner of W. Spencer-st and S. Winnebago-st, which was changed to St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran church, has again been changed to the building housing the Seamless Tube company on W. Spencer-st. The entrance to the polling place will be on W. Spencer-st.

The change from the church was requested by members of the parish who objected to the building being used for a polling place. The original need for a change followed several protests that the old booth was too small and too far from the center of the precinct it served.

Unique Cancellation Stamp Put In Use Here

The Appleton post office this week starting using a special cancellation stamp for registered letters, and philatelists all over the United States are expected to seek samples of the letters stamped here for their collections.

The new stamp, devised by H. M. Brehm, 321 E. Brewster-st, an amateur stamp collector, has the form of an apple and inside the apple are the letters "ton", signifying Appleton.

The necessity for a significant stamp for individual cities is brought about, by a ruling of the federal postal department which forbids placing the name of the city, where a letter is registered, on the front of the envelope. Regulations provide that the name of the city shall appear on the back of envelope, together with the state of registry. In order to enforce this ruling the department forbids offices to cancel stamps on registered letters with a cancelling impression which leaves the name of the city on the letter.

Usually local postoffices merely place a smudge over the stamp to indicate cancellation but when, in the discretion of the postmaster, a special stamp is wanted it can be used. The stamp devised by Mr. Brehm was approved by F. F. Wettengel, acting postmaster, and was placed in use this week. It does not break the rule of the department and yet it signifies that the letter has been mailed from Appleton.

It is expected there will be a great demand for letters bearing this cancellation.

Only two other cities in the United States use cancellations such as has been adopted here. One city uses a stamp which prints an ear of corn and another uses a stamp which prints a hula-dancer.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and cleaning the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c. 30c and 60c.

"GOOSE MAN" TALKS AT WALTON MEETING

Local Waltonians to Suggest Changes in Game Regulations

One of the features of the program arranged for the state convention of the Izaak Walton league at Wausau, Oct. 18 and 19, is an illustrated lecture by Jack Miner, the "Goose man" from Kingston, Ontario, who will show motion pictures of his wild game sanctuaries. The lecture will be presented at the banquet at Wausau hotel at 6.30 Thursday evening, Oct. 18. It is expected about 15 Appleton men will motor to the convention Thursday morning, according to Richard Sykes, president of the local chapter of the league.

The local chapter will present several suggestions at the convention. One is that if five or more counties in the state agree to close the hunting season on prairie chicken or partridges, that they draw up a resolution and submit it to the conservation commission for approval. Another suggestion is that the state be divided in half from Stevens Point east, in regard to the seasons on rabbits. If an individual county feels that the season should be closed, a demand will be made to the commission that the request be granted.

TAKE BIDS MONDAY FOR NEW POLICE AUTOMOBILE

The new car should weigh about 3,000 pounds, according to the notice. Bids should contain a check for $100 and may all be rejected if the council wishes.

ENDED AUTUMN COLD QUICK, PLEASANT WAY

Many Here Who Try Hospital Method in Own Homes Get Almost Instant Relief

Doctors realizing the need to "play safe in dealing with a cold during this changeable weather" are now advising home use of a pleasant hospital method that has given surprisingly quick results not only in extreme hospital cases but in hundreds of homes in Appleton and vicinity.

Miss Edith Black, for example, contracted a severe cold which she neglected at first. Soon her eyes were red, her nose was stopped up and congestion caused her to cough so hard the doctor was called. He advised prompt treatment with Ayer's Pectoral — a hospital certified remedy composed of wild cherry, terpin hydrate and other ingredients which are absorbed by the system and quickly drive out cold congestion from the nose, throat and bronchial tubes.

Within an hour she began to feel more like herself again. That night she was able to sleep without coughing or having to breathe through her mouth. The pleasant treatment was continued and in another day or so, the doctor reports, there was no sign left of the cold.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by attending physician.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Ayer's Pectoral now and you, too, will feel like a different person tomorrow. At Schlintz Bros, and all druggists—60c and, twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.

Coach Ole Jorgenson, at the beginning of the third quarter, shook up his lineup and imbued the team with new life makin · it almost impossible for the DePere 11 to win, running its score up to 13 points on touchdowns by Leonard Neubauer and John Schneller.

Both touchdowns were made on passes. Schneler also made the kick for extra point. Depere secured all its points on four touchdowns in the first and second quarters, failing to tally during the latter part of the game. The Neenah team made two more touchdowns which were ruled illegal.

ST. MARY FOOTBALL 11 LOSES TO BAYS

Narrow Margin of Victory Is Gained by Safety in First Period

Menasha—Playing before the larglargest crowd of the season at a booster game Sunday, St. Mary high school football team went down to defeat against the Cathedral high team of Green Bay at Recreation park by an 8 to 7 score.

Led into the park by St. Mary 30-piece band, the teams took the field, went through a short practice session, and the game was on. Fumbles in the early minutes of the game proved disasterous to the local team, enabling Green Bay to shove the home boys over their own goal line for the two points which proved to be the margin of victory. On a series of line plunges and forward passes Green Bay raised their score to 8.

Menasha came right back with a smashing drive that did not stop until the locals had plunged over the goal line for a touchdown. The placement was good. and the score was 8 to 7 at the half.

Most of the playing in the second half was done in Menasha territory. Green Bay at one time rushing the ball down to the Menasha five yard line, but the locals held for downs and kicked out of danger.

St. Mary team started to march down the field in the closing minutes of the game, a series of end runs netting nice gains, but the rally ended when they fumbled in midfield, just as the game ended.

AMAZING RESULTS ARE PRODUCED BY SARGON

Thousands of Sufferers Say Results Are Almost Unbelievable—Sense of Physical Well-Being and Mental Alertness Replaces Dragging Body and Depressed Mind in Most all Cases of Sluggish Liver. When Bile Flow is Increased—Many Stubborn Cases of Indigestion and Constipation of Long Standing Also Yield to New Treatment.

When Sargon is given to people suffering from deficient bile flow, the following improvements are noted in the majority of cases:

The appetite increases, the complexion clears, gas, bloating and hyperacidity are overcome, constipation disappears and a sense of well-being and mental alertness replaces a dragging body and depressed mind. All this is accomplished by simply increasing the supply of Nature's own digestant and laxative tonic—bile.

Medical science has learned that bile, prepared by the liver, is a marvelous laxative and is Nature's weapon against constipation. When the flow of bile is not sufficient, constipation inevitably follows, and when a proper flow of bile takes place in the normal individual, constipation does not exist.

Bile also has many other all-important functions. It is a powerful digestant, without which food cannot be properly assimilated. Bile is Nature's antiseptic, which lessens bacterial growth in the intestines and combats putrefaction and the formation of gas. It is an alkaline and counteracts hyperacidity.

Bile is, in short, a veritable life-sustaining fluid. If we lack it, the processes of digestion, assimilation and elimination become deranged, and it is a well established fact that most cases of so-called stomach trouble, indigestion and dyspepsia are caused by lack of bile flow.

Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills are designed to produce the amount of bile necessary for the processes of assimilation and elimination.

Sargon also contains another ingredient which is designed to build up the richness and vigor of the blood. Sargon is also a powerful invigorating tonic and contains ingredients of recognized therapeutic value which impart tone and strength to the entire system and are valuable for their influence upon the appetite and digestion.

Tens of thousands of men and women, in all walks of life, have testified that they have been fully restored to the enjoyment of newfound health and strength by its use.

"LOVE FOR TWO"

by Ruth Dewey Groves

1928 By N. E. A. Service, Inc.

THIS HAS HAPENED

BERTIE LOU and ROD BRYER are happily married, until LILA LOREE plots to separate them. For months she works to arouse Rod's interest in her while she plants seeds of doubt in his mind about Bertie Lou.

When Bertie Lou discovers that they see each other secretly she is heartbroken and flirts with young MARCO PALMER to retaliate. Rod will not commit himself to Lila, although he and Bertie Lou have drifted far apart.

Tired of her waiting game, Lila tells Rods she loves him and wants him to go away with her. He repudiates her disloyalty to her husband and she taunts him by saying that his wife is out with Marco.

Rod drives to the Palmer estate where he sees Marco and Bertie Lou in lounging attire and departs without learning that they were merely coming upstairs from the swimming pool.

Rod leaves Bertie Lou with no explanation, resigns his position and drifts from one thing to another trying to avoid old haunts. Both women try to find him without success.

Bertie Lou secures a position, expecting Rod to get a divorce. The suspense and dreariness of her lot cause her to seek forgetfulness in Marco's gay crowd. She has a breakdown and, while convalescing, decides to buy a "dream home" with the money Rod had sent her when he left.

Marco begs her to marry him, but she tells him she still loves Rod. When the house is finished she advertises it for sale. She is surprised when Rod answers the ad and conceals herself while he looks over the house. Rod says he cannot afford it and he is offered the job of caretaker until the house is sold.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

"Well, that is the condition?" Bessie asked Rod in reply to his statement that he would acept the job at the cottage on one conditon.

"Simply that I shall be at liberty to quit whenever I choose," he explained. "And I'll agree that the owner may discharge me without notice."

Bessie hesitated.

"I haven't the slightest idea whether or not I can endure living here alone," Rod went on, but he did not add that his doubt was inspire by the fact that the cottage reminded him so much of Bertie Lou.

Bessie had decided that Bertie Lou would want her to meet his terms. "I'm sure that will be all right with the owner," she said. "He wants you to leave your address and the name of someone we can ask about you.'

She smiled in friendly fashion, but Rod did not return the smile.

"I've no references," he said shortly, "but I've lived for several weeks at my present address. You may inquire about me there if you wish."

"Well, of course, it's a funny way to do business," Bessie declared, merely for the sake of appearances. "But if you've just come to town—" That was an explanation for his lack of references that she brought out in order to make Rod believe she assumed it to be the real one. It wouldn't do to let him suspect they would turn over the house to an unvouched-for stranger.

Rod let it pass. If they wanted to investigate him, let them. It was an absurb thing, anyhow, his taking such a job. He didn't really know why he did it, except that the opportunity for some physical effort appealed to him.

It would be a relief to have a chance to work with his hands, outdoors. But five dollars a week would scarcely maintain him. He had a little money. He'd have to use some of that and he mustn't wait until it was gone before seeking a position in his own field.

"Here's the address and the name of the landlady," he said and wrote them down on a piece of paper torn from a note book. "When will you let me know?"

"Tomorrow night? What's your telephone number? If everything is all right I'll give you a ring."

Rod gave her the number and she jotted it down.

"Tell the owner that I'd like to put in a garden," Rod said when he was leaving. "I'm not working just at present and I'd like to be busy around the place."

When Bessie repeated his request to Bertie Lou the latter smiled. But the smile was erased when Bessie informed her of Rod's conditional acceptance.

"He's afraid maybe he won't like the simple life," Bessie added, using her own words. Into Bertie Lou's mind flashed an interpretation that killed a little of her pity for Rod. So he still longed for Lila, did he? That was what it meant. The simple life hadn't much attraction for him. Perhaps if he were not down on his luck he would be back with Lila and her friends, in the night clubs.

Bertie Lou thought she could guess pretty well what had happened. Cyrus had discovered that Rod and Lila were in love with each other. Rod had lost his position and Lila had cast him aside when he began to slip down the ladder it had cost him so much to climb. The cost had been chiefly her own, Bertie Lou reflected.

But could Rod be such a poor fish that he regretted losing Lila? Couldn't he see, since Lila had not been turned out by Cyrus, along with him, that she preferred her rich husband to a poor lover? She must somehow have put all the blame on Rod and managed to convince Cyrus of her own innocence. Bertie Lou despised Rod at the moment she told herself these things.

She despised him, but still she "pitied" him. And the next day she telephoned to his landlady, as a matter of form, and made a few inquiries about him. All that she could learn was that he was a satisfactory tenant.

• • •

That evening Bessie called him and announced to him that his references were O. K. He could have the job if he wanted it, and when would he go out? Rod replied that he would be at the cottage the next morning.

"Make it tomorrow evening—at half past eight and I'll be out there," Bessie answered and Rod agreed.

"You can go ahead with the garden," she told him when he arrived at the house promptly on the half hour. "Here's the keys. Be sure you don't go away and leave the doors unlocked. And there's some bacon and eggs in the icebox for your breakfast, but there isn't any ice. Oh yes, here's your first week's pay and two dollars to buy seed for the garden."

Rod thanked her and offered to walk to the station with her, but Bessie very decidedly refused. Bertie Lou was at the station.

"What did he say?" she queried excitedly when Bessie came trudging along just a few minutes ahead of their train. "Doesn't he think five dollars is too little?"

She was sorry she couldn't afford to pay him more. But even as it was she couldn't continue long to keep him in her employ. There would be no rent to help meet the payments on the house, and her own salary was not sufficient for anything but her own expenses and the five dollars she was paying Rod.

Much of the $500 she had reserved out of the $3,000—it wasn't quite $2,000 that had come from Rod but she had saved a little of her salary before she fell ill—was gone. She could carry on for about two months and then she must either rent or sell.

And in the meantime. . . .

Well, it was thrilling to know that Rod was living under their very own roof. Yes, theirs, for she had decided he should be part owner. For convenience she would keep the title in her own name but she always would consider that Rod shared in its ownership. And if she sold the house she would send his half to him in care of his father.

The other half was legitimately hers. She would not use it unless necessity compelled her, but after all, even if it was the price of Rod's desertion of her, was she not entitled to half of the money that had been saved through stint in which she had borne an equal part.

• • •

Whatever it was she hoped for from Rod's presence in her house failed to materialize, however. She couldn't bring herself to go to him. Weeks went by, and she was facing the necessity of having Bessie tell him he would have to go when Bessie returned from a visit to the cottage with the report that the caretaker had entertained a lady friend.

"I asked him if he had hired a woman to come in and clean house for him," she told Bertie Lou, "just to make sure I didn't get him wrong. He said no, he'd done the housekeeping himself. Then I sort of pumped him to see if he would open up and admit that someone had been there. He told me he hadn't any family in the East, but that's about all I could get out of him. Say, Bertie Lou, is this guy straight?"

Bertie Lou looked at her, speechless with the misery that welled into her throat. Of course Rod didn't know that it was their house, their little house of dreams. He was at liberty to have callers if he wished . . . only, from something Bessie said and the way she looked when she said it, Bertie Lou had a sickening impression.

"What makes you so sure that a woman was there?" she countered to Bessie's question about Rod.

"Well, I guess Mr. Brown doesn't wear gold hairpins," Bessie answered shortly. Brown was the name Rod had taken at the time of his last change of address. Despite his belief that Lila would not seek him out in a humble abode, she had done so.

Rod had gone to Tom Fraser to ask his permission to give his name as reference when at last he found it almost impossible to obtain a position without one. Tom had asked for his address. And Molly had given it to Lila when the latter said she had a personal matter to take up with him.

Molly had a healthy suspicion of the nature of Lila's "personal matter," but she was too desirous of pleasing the wife of an influential man like Cyrus Loree to refuse the address, although she did wish she hadn't mentioned that it was in Tom's possession.

• • •

This time Lila had found Rod at home. She looked around his poorly furnished room with an open sneer upon her skillfully colored lips.

"This isn't necessary," she said, ignoring the lack of a welcome and the fact that Rod stood and did not offer her a chair. "Cyrus will take you back," she added after waiting in vain for Rod to answer her remark.

"Don't waste your time," he told her then. Lila moved nearer to him. "Are you going down to the gutter before you decide to take life as you find it?" she asked tensely.

"Perhaps, but not with you," Rod said levelly. Lila drew back a little and the next instant Rod had a feeling that she would need but little prompting to tear him to pieces if she could.

It was just after this visit from Lila that he was served with the papers in Bertie Lou's divorce action, and lost the position Tom's reference had helped him to get. His newborn ambition had died then and he did not seek anyone's help in getting work. He took what he could get. And changed his name to Brown.

And it was of Brown that Bessie reported, with not the faintest glimmering of suspicion that he was Bertie Lou's husband. She did guess that he was more to her friend than merely "a young man I used to know," however, and Bessie wasn't going to see him put anything over on Bertie Lou. So she told what she knew.

He had a woman visitor in Bertie Lou's house.

Well and Hearty After 10 Years

"Dreco Ended My Pain and Made Me Feel Just Like a New Man," Says Mr. Van Lone

Just recently Mr. Chris. Van Lone, a well-known millman at the Wright Rubber Co, who makes his home at 1311 Rapids Drive, Racine, Wis., related the following experience with Dreco. He says:

Mr. Chris. Van Lone

"I haven't enjoyed good health for the past 10 years in spite of spending a small fortune trying to get relief.

"Much of my suffering was caused by my stomach. No matter how carefully I selected my food I was sure to suffer afterwards. I was always constipated and couldn't sleep soundly at night. In addition to those troubles I also suffered a great deal with severe pains in my limbs.

"Nothing I took helped me until I started on the Dreco treatment but this grand remedy seemed to be just made for me and now I feel better than in years. This new medicine has ended all the pains in my stomach and limbs and has rejuvenated my entire system. I can sincerely recommend it to everyone."

The Dreco mentioned above is a root and herb preparation of unusual merit. It is very effective in toning up the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and ending suffering and pain. Try it and you'll recommend it, too. Sold by Schlintz Bros. Drug Store and other leading druggists.

MR. MELLON'S INDORSEMENT

As was to be expected it remained for Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon to make the strongest indorsement of Herbert Hoover yet made and to give the most conclusive reasons why he should be elected. Mr. Mellon's recital of Republican administration under Coolidge, so far as it affects the prosperity and economic well-being of the country, is a persuasive presentation of facts. They show an extraordinary change in seven years, an extraordinary recovery from the blighting and depressing effects of the war; not due, as Mr. Mellon is careful to point out, to chance or the ways of nature, but to well conceived and executed policies of government.

Mr. Mellon gives the credit to Republican administration on the ground that laws and policies which have helped to bring about and sustain our great prosperity, such as tax revision downward, debt settlements, development of foreign trade and governmental economy, were opposed by the Democrats. We would not go so far as Mr. Mellon in his conclusions, although the facts are as he has stated. Rather we would describe the record made at Washington as the work of an able president, surrounded by able men, among whom is Mr. Mellon himself, unquestionably one of the greatest financiers the treasury department has ever had. It was leadership and men, both in and out of congress, but principally out, which produced the remarkable conditions and figures which Mr. Mellon presents. They were—men wise in economics, finance, commerce, organization and efficiency. They knew their onions, as Gov. Smith would say. While men did it, the party gets the credit. It was not the Democratic party which conducted the United States so securely and triumphantly through the World war. It was Woodrow Wilson and his leadership, but the Democrats will always point to it with pride and eloquence as a party achievement.

Mr. Mellon's statistics are impressive: Myriads of automobiles congest the highways, the number of passenger car purchases has more than doubled in seven years, savings deposits have doubled and bank deposits have increased from 39 to 56 billion in six years; foreign trade has risen to the immense total of nine billions annually and each year since 1924 we have invested a billion dollars in foreign securities; 2,500,000 individual small income taxpayers have been removed from the rolls and the tax generally reduced, yet revenues are three billions in excess of those of 1921. On the strength of these figures Mr. Mellon says that "in no other nation and at no other time in the history of the world have so many persons enjoyed such a high degree of prosperity or maintained a standard of living comparable to that which prevails throughout this country today," a conclusion that no one can deny.

Is Mr. Hoover qualified and trained to continue the program and policies which have made American prosperity and progress unique? Mr. Mellon thinks he is. He says of him:

> After a long and successful business career, he has held many public and official positions of the greatest responsibility. He has proved himself a great organizer, a far-seeing and resourceful executive, and has discharged every duty in a way to merit the highest praise and admiration.
>
> Based on nearly eight years' close association with him, I am convinced he will give the nation a sound and successful administration of the government and that he is supremely well qualified to deal with those great economic problems that influence so directly and to such a very large extent the prosperity of the country and the comfort, welfare and happiness of the people.

All of which is a powerful indorsement and recommendation of the Republican nominee, to say the least.

A CORRECTION

The Post-Crescent on Saturday ran an editorial stating that Congressman Schneider had declared for Mr. Hoover for president. It appears from a statement published elsewhere in this issue over Mr. Schneider's signature that the information on which the editorial was based was in error. The Post-Crescent is glad to give space to Mr. Schneider's statement which corrects and denies the assumption that the congressman was supporting Mr. Hoover for president. We of course regret placing Mr. Schneider in a wrong attitude with the voters of the district and trust that this explanation and his own statement will set him right. Mr. Schneider's position on the presidency is defined in his statement.

REPUBLICAN TARIFF DOCTRINE

This newspaper has always upheld the tariff doctrine of the Republican party, that is protection for American industries and producers adequate to safeguard them against injurious competition from foreign countries where wages and standards of living are lower. It has opposed the former Democratic theory of a tariff for revenue only.

It has, however, condemned the practice of the Republicans in carrying out their tariff doctrine. For decades the writing of tariff bills has been involved in scandals and injustices. There has been notorious overprotection of certain favored industries. There was the "indefensible" schedule K in the Payne-Aldrich act, and there have been many more like it. President McKinley, an ardent protectionist, warned his party against excessive duties. Mr. Taft rebelled against the discriminations and excesses of tariff schedules and the manner in which they were framed. He demanded the setting up of a tariff commission and the taking of all such legislation out of politics.

There has been no reform. A tariff commission has been set up, but it has not functioned, principally because presidents would not permit it to function. Log-rolling and favoritism to powerful interests, maintaining influential lobbies at Washington and contributing heavily to Republican campaign funds, have continued to be the basis of tariff making.

Gov. Smith in his Louisville speech delivered an indictment of this policy that has our complete approval. It was in our opinion the best reasoned, the most forceful, the most convincing campaign address he has made. His condemnation of existing methods and his proposals for dealing with the tariff, that is to take it in fact out of politics and place it in the hands of a disinterested, expert, non-party commission for the guidance of congress and the reliable information of the public, is an adequate answer to claims of Republican leaders for indorsement of that party's tariff record.

So far as tariff enters into the election Gov. Smith has placed his opponents on the defensive and has altogether the better of the argument. It is true that the protective tariff is essential to American prosperity, that it has made the country independent economically, that it has developed industry to an extraordinary and unique degree and that it must be maintained. But it is also true that many evils and injustices, burdensome to the farmer and the consumer and politically corruptive, have grown up under it, which ought to be ameliorated and corrected. Gov. Smith points the way to reform, provided he can induce his party to follow him. As on prohibition he is miles ahead of his party on the tariff. Gov. Smith has advanced to the exact republican position on protection.

John Coolidge plays the saxophone. Every family has its little failings.

Headlines we are beginning to fear you'll never see: POLICE SHOOT THREE RACKETEERS: ARREST TWELVE.

Now that Hoover is out of a job, he'll probably hustle his darndest to get the kind of congenial employment he is seeking.

Percy Williams, young Canadian who won both sprints in the Olympic games, will attend the University of British Columbia, announcing he declined several offers from colleges in the United States. The professional institutions are always on the watch for promising amateurs.

A picture shows General Trevano, candidate for provisional president of Mexico, practicing with a pistol. Probably taking the primary course in Mexican official ethics.

A grand opportunity to get into the news awaits some fellow who can smoke two brands of cigarets while he's blindfolded and can't tell 'em apart.

A victim of amnesia in New York City suddenly recovered her faculties and remembered her name was Gheranghelli. She must have been a sick person, indeed, to forget a name like that.

Ha! at last, we have it! The reason why Hoover didn't kiss that baby was because he doesn't like the odor of cigar smoke in another's breath.

This intensive political campaigning by radio makes us wonder whether it was the Democrats or the Republicans who began firing the static heard round the world.

POST-TONIC

The Remedy is Worse Than the Malady

IT'S GREAT SPORT, this having the Republicans hop on us for favoring the Democrats, and the Democrats jumping all over us for being inclined toward the Republicans. They say mean things about each other, and those of us who try to sit on the fence, sorta like umpires, get brickbats and bottles from both camps. A case in point.

On a string suspended from a window shade in the P-C editorial room (there are five windows and I'm not saying whom the others are backing) hangs an Al Smith placard.

The window had been open during the heavy rain last Friday afternoon. Soon after it stopped raining, Fred Felix Wettengel, came into the office. Absent-mindedly, he seated himself on the sill. Then he got up, and stared at the window. He saw the placard. In supreme disgust he said: "Huh! Anybody could tell that that's an Al Smith window!"

Emigrant Agent—"Married or single?"
Applicant—"Married."
"Where were you married?"
"I don't know."
"Don't know where you were married?"
"Oh. I thought you said 'Why'."

Nothing will cure the writing itch; not even being unable to write.

FROM ANOTHER FLAPPER

(The following is pilfered from the People's Forum, without apology.)

This political situation—What are us girls going to do? Here we have a Presidential Election and we want to vote RIGHT but with the dope we now have we don't know what to do. We see life long Democrats wearing Hoover buttons and long-lived Republicans wearing Smith buttons. Are these Republicans suffering with a thirst or what's the matter? Don't Democrats get thirsty? And the Hoover Democrats—are they trying to gum up the Democrat parade because the Democrats have a chance this year?

And what's become of the Progressives? We are told that the Progressive party is simply a protest against the corruption in the other parties. Why aren't they protesting this year? Why does Senator Curtis come into Wisconsin and praise our Bobby and why does Bobby refuse to indorse Curtis for Vice President and say nasty things about Coolidge. Is Coolidge running again? Why do men who are Republican Committeemen come into the meetings of the committee with Al Smith buttons on and why do the Democrats sit around in these meetings?

And I want to ask you why do they have two Republican county committees in this county and why does one of them meet in the basement of the Insurance building and the other in the court house? What does it mean when they say "STRAIGHT Republicans?" My brother says the Progressives are the only Straight Republicans he knows of, and that the others have "Teapot Domes."

Now that we don't have any more Progressives does that mean that all the rest of them are not "STRAIGHT?" And another thing us girls want to know is this. Why has the Catholic church always denied being in politics when accused by the Protestants, and is it all right for the Methodists and Baptists to do the same thing and not deny it? We always thought it was wrong for the preachers to preach the gospel and politics from the same pulpit and we want to know when, and who changed this rule. I asked my father about this and he said that the Preachers organized the Anti-Saloon league to provide jobs for their weak sisters so that they could play with politics. It must be fun to play politics and get paid for it. Can you tell us who pays them for this?

One of the girls in our club has an uncle who once ran a brewery and she says that her uncle says that the Anti-Saloon league is the PREP school for the Prohibition Bureau. Is that true? The agents they send around here are pretty big, strong and rough. They are not the "Weak Sisters" are they? It would seem to me that the W. S.'s would be sitting in the offices in their paper collars getting reports from the Committee of Fifteen all over the country.

Can't anyone of us run for an office if we don't happen to be good looking and must all the good looking lady candidates be Democrats. This may make some difference to us?

Why are they talking about beer all the time. Are those who don't want beer prohibitionists and why do they drink it when they get a chance? Will prohibition agents be stopped from shooting people if Smith is elected, or do you think Hoover would stop it if he is the next President? He said it would have to stop but why did he not do something about it before election? He was in the Cabinet and he could tell Mr. Coolidge about it if he wanted to. Perhaps its outrageous just before election and all right the rest of the time.

My father says that promises before election are just bunk and the politicians don't mean anything. Is that true? And we ask you which keeps its promises best the Republicans or Democrats?

—A Flapper.

IF IT'S SIMPLE IT'S NO GOOD

Haven't heard or seen a word of caution lately against the practice of using ordinary wheat bran as a natural laxative. For a while the subsidized "experts" stirred up a veritable tempest in the teapot over the alleged dangers one incurs in eating bran that hasn't been "prepared" or otherwise sanctified by some manufacturer. I gather from anxious queries that the warnings sounded by the kept doctors were heard by a few introspective persons, and no doubt the demand for imported, certified and duly censored seaweed has increased accordingly.

The present quotation on therapeutic birdseed is a dollar a pound. Each seed, if you believe all you read on the wrapper, has been subjected to the most scrupulous scrutiny of our private specialists, so that the bird who gulps down a regular ration of the seed may devote himself unreservedly to the business of rustling another little round iron man to pay for next week's supply of the birdseed and suffer no qualms about the composition of the stuff. How delightful this must be, as contrasted with the sad lot of us poor simple folk who buy flaxseed at 25 cents a pound and trouble our minds not at all as to the country of its birth or the style of package.

Wheat bran, such as you may buy from the miller, the feed store or the wheat farmer, in bulk, is as wholesome and desirable as any natural food cereal or any vegetable, if you have any use for bran. The only precaution one need take is a casual inspection to make sure there are no bugs, sticks, stones or the like in the lot to be used as food.

Instead of handing over a dollar a pound for glorified bird seed, which comes in a very pretty package, one should buy from the druggist a pound of ordinary unground flaxseeds for a quarter and take a few spoonfuls daily, if any such aid is required to stimulate the bowel. I can assure you that plain raw flaxseeds so used will accomplish everything that any imported birdseed can accomplish and with no drawback that does not attend the use of the fancy stuff. Indeed, the regular use of whole flaxseed, a few spoonfuls daily, seems to be particularly helpful in cases of irritable bowel, so called, as in "muscous colitis," hemorrhoids, fissure, or ulcer. In any case, the habit of taking one or more "doses" of flaxseeds daily is much better than the physic habit and infinitely better for health than the enema habit.

Some persons take a spoonful or two of flaxseeds and wash the dose down with water. Others prefer to mix the flaxseeds with cereal or with fruit jam. Others prefer to cook the flaxseeds more or less with a cereal or other food, though probably the remedy is less efficacious when cooked.

Bran may be eaten raw, mixed with any other cereal, in soup, or in various recipes such as bran cookies, bran gems, bran bread, or bran macaroons. These are well adapted respectively for the kids, the hired man, the family and the boy friend if he is susceptible to the blandishments of a good cook.

I intended to print recipes for these bran delights here, but if we tried to print all four the same day I just know what would happen to them. So we'll merely give directions for holding the hired man today, and keep the other secrets for future revelation.

Bran Gems

One egg well beaten; a pinch of salt; butter the size of a walnut, melted; one cupful each of sweet milk, wheat flour and wheat bran; a teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in gem tins. Bake thoroughly—this isn't mush, you know. Should the hired man fail to come right back for more, count the ingredients—maybe the printed has left out a few. There should be seven items in the recipe. If you find only five, or more than nine, it's not my fault.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Lotta Hash

I am a school girl in eleventh grade. I have adenoids. My teacher advised me to have them removed. He said I could learn more rapidly if I would have them removed. Our doctor said I would have to have my tonsils removed too. My father is not willing to have this done. He heard a doctor speaking in —— a few days ago. That doctor said that you would have the t.b.c if you had your tonsils and adenoids removed. Please tell me if you think there is any danger of having t.b.c if I have my tonsils and adenoids removed. (I. T.)

Answer.—On the contrary, daughter, there is more danger if you keep the enlarged or diseased adenoids and tonsils. Probably your father misunderstood the doctor he heard speaking. Or perhaps the doctor who spoke is a person without standing but with an ax to grind. If your father will give me the name of the doctor who spoke or any other identifying facts, I may be able to satisfy his mind about this. Meanwhile, I should not advise you to have tonsils or adenoids removed merely because you expect you will be able to learn more rapidly. If anybody learns more rapidly after such operation it is just because his or her general health begins to improve, or sometimes because impaired hearing due to adenoids is relieved and the pupil doesn't miss so much the teacher says.

Salts

Please tell me if it is harmful to take a teaspoon of sodium phosphate every morning before breakfast? (Mrs. H. C.)

Answer.—It may be all right for a limited period, but I should not care to dose myself with salts of any kind unless my doctor ordered it.

Chalk It Down

I asked for calcuim carbonate in our drug store. They gave me "precipitated chalk" which some people use for tooth powder. Is this the same chalk you advise for sour stomach and gas? (Mrs. A. E.)

Answer.— Yes, precipitated chalk or prepared chalk is calcium carbonate. Dose five to 10 grains perhaps three times daily.

MR. SCHNEIDER REPLIES

Editor Post-Crescent—The Green Bay Press Gazette and the Appleton Post-Crescent thinks they have decided what course I should take in this Presidential election. With glowing words of praise in order to shield their deception they told their readers in their editorials, Saturday, October 13th, that I have endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Hoover. This is a deliberate falsehood and misrepresentation and is the child of the scheming mind and imagination of its editor. I have issued no statement or done anything to justify the Green Bay Press Gazette or the Post-Crescent to make such a statement in its news columns or editorials, nor will I be induced by such trickery to declare for either candidate in order to satisfy the deliberate conspiracy of my enemies in their effort to try to defeat me.

My friends recall the vicious attacks of these Re-actionary and unprincipaled newspapers when I first became a candidate for the office I now hold. It is therefore not surprising to me that they should again join hands in this cunning and malicious attempt to place me in an unfavorable position with my friends who may differ on the candidacies for President. My position in this campaign is clear. I respect each citizen's right to make his own choice in the selection of public officials for the respective offices that they seek. I do not claim to possess the power to deliver the vote of my friends to any candidacy. I am not a political boss. I never was so foolish to believe that I carried votes around in my pocket to hand over, I therefore will not permit any political faction to exploit the confidence that I enjoy with the people of my district as a result of my record of public service in Congress, nor will I allow my political enemies to drag me into the whirlpool of partisan politics and shift a foreign issue upon me in my campaign for re-election. The people of the Ninth Congressional District know my record in Congress. I have tried to serve them to the best of my ability. I will exchange my record of service with no one. Upon my own record I ask to be continued in public service as the Congressman from the Ninth Congressional District. Were it not for the many confusing situations in the campaign I would not have even honored the malicious lie carried by the Appleton Post-Crrescent and Green Bay Press Gazette in their editorials Saturday October 13th with this reply.

I repeat my charge that it was the wilful scheming, conspiracy of my political enemies. These low tactics are not unusual with these newspapers and their position regarding my candidacy is well known to the readers of these papers and my constituents in the Ninth Congressional District. They have declared their allegience long ago to the Honorable would be Democrat, the Republican Mayor of Green Bay. All the readers need to do to confirm for themselves of the exact position of the Press Gazette regarding the present campaign is to refer to the editorial of July 25, 1928. I quote from that editorial in part: "If it is his desire to remain in politics (referring to Mayor McGillan) we think it is a sensible and logical move. . . . We cannot see that it makes any difference whether he runs as a Republican or Democrat. Those who are looking for the best representation of the District will take note of the party ticket on which he is running; they will vote for the man. Mr. McGillan should make a strong candidate (continues the Press Gazette). He has a large following in the northern part of the District and in Door and Kewaunee Counties (claims the Press-Gazette) and of course in Brown county. He ought to be elected (concludes the Press Gazette)."

If there is still the slightest degree of decency left with the Post-Crescent and Press Gazette I expect them to publish my reply to these lies in full that their readers may know the truth if it must be told by some one else other than those writing for the Post-Crescent and Press Gazette.

Respectfully,
GEO. J. SCHNEIDER

POLICEMAN'S LOT IN WASHINGTON IS HARD AND UNHAPPY

Too Many Officials Bear Special Privileges and Are Immune to Arrest

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington —Decidedly a policeman's lot is not a happy one in Washington.

There are altogether too many complications for his comfort, what with the special privileges of government officialdom, legislative, executive or judical as well as the immunities of the diplomatic corps.

Who knows what all powerful senator or member of the house may be in any speeding machine, pulled up for the usual "bawling out"? It pays to be cautious and that seriously hampers traffic regulation and also the pursuit of bootlegger suspects.

DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY

The greatest source of trouble, however, is the diplomatic corps; that little group of official guests of the government resident in capitol but who carry with them the sovereignty of the flags they serve. Of all the 120,000,000 or so folks in this wide land, they alone are legitimately outside the law of the land, exempt from arrest, beyond police authority. The only recourse of the police is to let him go and report his infraction of law to the state department which in turn, if it sees, fit, takes the matter up with the government involved. In cases serious enough to warrant such action, the department withdraws its acceptance of that individual as a member of the diplomatic corps. There remains no option for him then but prompt return to his own country in disgrace.

In years gone by there was little trouble from this source for the Washington police.

Since the advent of the motor car and of prohibition, however, an ever increasing list of traffic violations or of actual or suspected evasions of the dry laws have been piled up by the police in letters to the state department and a number of familiar faces have vanished from the fringes of the diplomatic circle from time to time.

TAGS IDENTIFY CARS

To ease the situation a little as to identification of diplomatic motor cars, district officials group the yearly identification tags for these machines within a certain bracket. They do the same thing, to an extent, with cars of government officials of various sorts, so a traffic officer knows what kind of a political potentate he may have to deal with.

The diplomatic tags, however, form a wonderfully desirable cloak for bootlegger operations if use of the cars in off hours can be obtained through servants or other non-immune employes of the diplomats, and for that reason they are run down relentlessly if they fall under suspicion. Frequently the officer finds no warrant for his suspicions and merely gets into hot water for interfering with the car occupant who is making legitimate use of his diplomatic privileges.

But there have been other times when observation of diplomatic cars or a watch on the quarters of the lesser diplomatic fry were rewarded by evidence that impecunious attaches have fallen victim to the source of revenue provided by improper use of their status. In such cases, the offending official invariably, and usually by voluntary action of the minister or ambassador under whom he served, has been promptly banished home with as little publicity as possible but with official decapitation awaiting him at the other end.

Pool Room Business Is 'Punk' Declares Owners

"The Old Pool Room, She Ain't What She Used To Be, is the title of a song being composed by two local pool room proprietors in an effort to give vent to their laments. The days when men were men and the old gang came in, got a stock of cigars and spent the afternoon poking the ivories around is a thing of the past, according to local billiard hall proprietors. The present generation of males is satisfied to come in, sip a malted milk or two, eat a banana split sundae and rattle their bones around in an old tin flivver for the afternoon and evening, they say.

"If it wasn't for our stock of ice cream, candy bars, cigrettes, cocoa colas, malted milks, root beers and other concoctions we would have been in the poor house long ago," one proprietor said. Others claim that the condition isn't so bad and that although the season for pool and billiards is short lived during the winter months, it is profitable.

Several proprietors are satisfied to wait until college opens and they claim that college boys are the most enthusiastic players. During the winter months they play incessantly and many a game becomes hot in competition before one or the other is ready to admit defeat. Some of the boys go as far as to apply the trigonometry they learn in college in figuring out the difficult pokes, another proprietor said.

"Too many other activities are prevalent today and we are satisfied to see that the American youth is seeking the out of doors to a greater extent," a more far sighted proprietor said. "Like the drug store we are forced to be satisfied with the vending of small articles of interest and concoctions of many kinds," he said.

STAGE And SCREEN

THE GREAT STORY OF "WINGS"

Dedication

To those young wariors of the sky, whose wings are folded about them, forever, this picture is reverently dedicated.

When the World war involves the United States, John Powell and David Armstrong enter the United States air service. John has the love of Mary Preston, for which he doesn't care and a locket from Sylvia Lewis, who intended the locket for David with whom she is deeply in love.

This rivalry of Jack and David arouses a deep enmity between the boys but events at the training camp develop a strong friendship between them although Jack still thinks Sylvia loves him and David knows Jack is mistaken.

Meanwhile Mary joins a truck outfit and is sent to France. Jack, David and Mary have many exciting adventures during which Jack and David, now fast friends are decorated for bravery and allowed leave in Paris. Mary is also in Paris at this time and when Jack is threatened with court martial, Mary sacrifices her reputation to save him. She is sent home.

Back at camp, Jack and David have a misunderstanding over Sylvia, David in order to save his friend anguish, withholding the information. They nearly come to blows but orders to attack two observation balloons come in time to prevent this.

During this engagement, David is brought down in flames but he escapes alive and after hiding all night in a swamp, reaches the outskirts of a German air camp in the morning. He succeeds in stealing a German plane and wings his way back to his own lines.

Meanwhile, a German aviator has brought word to the American camp that David has been killed. Filled with regret and a desire for revenge, Jack takss off. All day he terrorizes the German forces and toward evening, while returning to camp, he sights David's plane. Unaware that David is in the German plane, Jack attacks him and brings him down. David is mortally wounded.

David, dying, is taken into a small French farmhouse. Jack, elated with his victory, swoops down to cut the insignia from the airplane. He discovers that he has caused the death of his friend. David dies in Jack's arms.

Going through David's belongings, preparing to take them to David's parents, Jack discovers Sylvia's love for David. He is broken hearted. Back home, the war over, David discovers "the girl next door" and his love for Mary.

"SHOW GIRL"

Light and airy as a soap bubble, about as irresponsible and surely one of the most perfect forms of divertisement that has come this way in a long time, is "Show Girl," the new First National picture featuring Alice White, now at the Elite Theatre.

This littel girl with her blond hair, her dainty figure and her pep—surely she is destined for great things in the show world, which includes the screen world. She has proved in this picture that she has the talent to create a role. For J. P. McEvoy's heroine was simply a character on paper until Alice invested her with life.

The direction by Alfred Santell is superb. The scenes on the stage during musical comedy rehearsals present many shapely girls, big sets and plenty of action. Miss White tops everything with her effervescent personality.

Charles Delaney pleases by his work as Jimmy; Donald Reed, Lee Moran, Gwen Lee, Kate Price, Jimmie Finlayson, Richard Tucker and many others made up a cast of adequate principals.

There is nothing serious about "Show Girl." It is even flippant, glib, supremely sophisticated. But it is entertainment and as such it is entitled to its share of approval. It is clean and clever.

NURSE INVESTIGATES SOCIAL SERVICE CASES

Seven social service cases were attended to by Miss Marie Karsseboom, city health nurse, last month, according to her report to the health board. Miss Karsseboom took over her position here on Sept. 17.

The nurse was on active duty 80 hours, had 14 office interviews, visited 36 homes and 38 patients. Miss Karsseboom found four cases of influenza, two with mental diseases, two persons who were not ill, one illness which was not diagnosed, six cases of various ailments, three cases where pre-natal and maternity advice were given and handled two cases where mother's pension was involved.

NOYES MAKES SURVEY IN PAPER MILL TOWNS

H. G. Noyes, itinerant coordinator of the pulp and paper industry at the Appleton vocational school, is conducting a survey at Rhinelander, Wausau, Stevens Point, Wisconsin Rapids, and Eau Claire this month to determine the possibilities for conducting a part time class in industrial problems in vocational schools. The survey also is being conducted to find out if an itinerant vocational school teacher could be used to carry on a program in industrial training classes, according to Mr. Noyes.

LEGION MEN GROW WHISKERS TO USE DURING PAGEANT

Menomonie—(AP)—The one thing requiring the most preparation for the observance of the "Days of the '49 gold rush," to be celebrated by the American Legion drum corps for three days starting Oct. 25, is the whiskers with which the robusts of those historic days adorned their faces.

So it is that some 30 or 40 males of the community are developing hirsute accompaniments to reflect the appearance as well as the spirit of the forty-niners.

Ranging from insipid mustaches coaxed along by decided blonds to heavy growths on the faces of the darker, and under the circumstances the more fortunate legionnaires, the crops of whiskers are of every design and tint. In color they range from raven black to flagrant red.

M'NUTT CAN'T SPEAK HERE ARMISTICE DAY

Because national headquarters of the American legion previously decided that the newly elected commander of the legion should take part in a radio program at New York, Nov. 11, Appleton legionaires will have to find a new speaker for their program here Armistice day.

Several weeks ago, Paul V. McNutt, newly elected commander of the American legion spoke at Neenah and promised local legionaires he'd speak to them on Armistice day with the condition that if he was elected commander of the legion he might be forced to cancel the date.

Thursday, Mr. McNutt, who is dean of the law school at the university of Indiana was elected to the national office, and members of the Armistice day committee of Oney Johnston post of the legion immediately asked if he could fill the date here. The answer was that the national headquarters had scheduled whoever was elected commander as one of the speakers on a huge program at New York. President Coolidge and General John J. Pershing will be the two other prominent men on the program. Plans for a new speaker for the local program now are being made.

MILWAUKEE TO FETE INSURANCE OFFICIALS

The annual convention of Wisconsin insurance company officials and representatives will be held in Milwaukee Oct. 24, according to recent announcements. The headquarters of the convention will be at the new Hotel Schroeder. Officers of the Aid Association for Lutherans attended the meeting last year but will not be represented at the coming meeting.

DEPARTMENT HAS SNAKE-BITE CURE

Treatment Must Be Used Within 24 Hours After Person Is Bitten

Madison—(AP)—If bitten by a poisonous snake, the remedy is at hand, for the state board of health here has a quantity of a newly discovered agent, "antivenin," used in the treatment of bites from rattlesnakes, copperheads and moccasins. To be effective it must be used within 24 hours of the attack.

Few poisonous snakes still remain in Wisconsin. Only the rattlesnake is now seriously to be feared and this is common only in hilly regions such as those in south-midwestern Wisconsin. Tilling the soil and incessant warfare against them have all but eliminated snakes.

Only rarely is a case of snake bite found in Wisconsin. One person, in one of the hilly regions, was bitten by a rattlesnake last summer and the newly discovered serum was used promtly. Recovery followed.

"There has been no exact specific treatment for venomous snakebites until recently," the state board says, "although many different drugs have been developed. The new serum neutralizes the poison of the rattlesnake bite if used within 24 hours after the bite. It is injected by hypodermic needle. The 'antivenin' is much in the nature of 'antitoxin'; it is obtained from the blood of horses which have been highly immuned against the bite of certain poisonous snakes."

Manufacturers advise campers, hunters, picnickers, boy scouts and others to carry a package for protection, since it can be self-administered in emergencies.

ELKS WILL INITIATE 20 AT 1ST MEETING

The first general meeting of members of the Elks club will be held Wednesday, Oct. 17, at the club rooms. A 6:30 dinner will precede the meeting at which more than 20 persons will be taken into the lodge. An entertainment program has been planned. Fall activities of the club will also be discussed.

Book Gives Biographies Of Two "U" Professors

Madison—(AP)—Two personalities of the University of Wisconsin faculty, Drs. Stephen Moulton Babcock and Harry Steenbock, who have received international recognition for their discoveries in agriculture and nutrition, are [illegible] biographical studies in "Hunger Fighters," a new book by Paul de Kruif.

The chapter on Dr. Babcock, now emeritus professor of the college of agriculture, is entitled "[illegible] of the Hidden Hunger." It is devoted largely to Dr. Babcock's experiments on the feeding of cows and his discovery of the milk [illegible] which has brought the university [illegible] most fame.

Dr. Kruif characterizes Dr. Babcock as a "merry scoffer," as a hunger fighter who never took himself seriously." He says that the outstanding thing about the doctor is the way he has always looked truth in the face, preferring to give credit to his assistants than take it himself.

One of the students at Wisconsin who came under Dr. Babcock's influence was Harry Steenbock, now professor of agricultural chemistry. Spurred by his old master and coming to science with a practical background gained on a northern Wisconsin farm, Dr. Steenbock has been able to contribute discoveries of untold value to the world.

"The Sun Trapper," is De Kruif's tag for Dr. Steenbock. By that he means that the university chemist has mastered the secret of the sun's healthful force and has been able to bring that force into the laboratory. The chronicler tells how Dr. Steenbock spent 16 years searching and experimenting. He tells the long and intricate story of successive hunts, clews, pieces of luck and careful experimentation which led to discovery of treating foods with ultra violet rays to give the vital quality of Vitamine.

The scientist, at the end, obtained the power to turn tasty food, milk, grain, meats, into bone builders and carriers of the growth producing element held in the sun's rays.

Then he wished to turn over to the university that discovery for which he has been offered [illegible] by food producers, but the university did not take it, and the scientist patented it himself and turned over full rights to the Alumni Research foundation which is for the promotion of scientific investigation at the university.

GAS-ELECTRIC CARS MAY OPERATE HERE

It is expected Appleton will be included on the route of the new gas-electric rail cars when they operate on the Chicago and Northwestern road between Milwaukee and Green Bay, according to word received from official offices at Milwaukee, but no confirmation of the report could be obtained from officials of the road in this city.

The company plans to use two more gas-electric rail cars, both of the dual unit type on lines through Fond du Lac and branching points. It is expected one of them will replace train number 205, a late afternoon train, northbound for Green Bay. The other car will probably be put into operation on the line between Sheboygan, Fond du Lac and [illegible].

The cars are controlled by electricity which is generated by an enormous generator underneath the car. The cars can be used as regular day coaches or can be separated and run on their own power.

READING RULES FOR KEEPING GOOD EYESIGHT

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Does your child blink his eyes or rub them frequently? In the morning when he gets up, do the lids stick together and when open leave tiny granulations along the edges? chairmen, Miss Laura Hagen.

Sometimes the irritation which causes the blinking and rubbing and discharge which causes the lids to adhere, may be overcome by the regular use of an eye-wash every morning.

An excellent eye-wash can be made at home by dissolving a level tea spoonful of boric acid in a pint of water. The water should be boiled first and then allowed to cool. While still rather warm stir the boric powder into it. The powder will dissolve.

The solution should be put into a clean glass jar or bottle and covered tightly and set away until needed. A little may be poured out at each using. Nothing should ever be poured back into the jar and nothing should be dipped in.

EYE CUP IS USEFUL

A clean piece of absorbent cotton should be used for each eye and then thrown away. An eye-cup costs only 10 cents at a drug store and is very useful. It fits over the eye socket and allows the fluid to flow freely around the eye when the head it tilted. Boric solution is cooling and soothing and is good for tired eyes, too. Do not make the solution any stronger than the directions.

If bathing the eyes does not help the trouble I should consult a good oculist without loss of time. Tho eye is the most delicate organ in the body and is not to be trifled with

There are things a parent can do that often will obviate any necessity for remedies, by minimizing the c nces for trouble.

If you find a child reading in a glaring light, stop him at once.

Don't allow him to read when lying down, and don't allow him to r ad too soon aften an illness such as measles or scarlet fever or any illness that has left his body in a weakened condition. His eye muscles are as week as the rest of him.

READING RULES

Show a child that when he reads he hould have the light fall on his book over his soulder. He sould not face the light himself. A book should be eld 14 inches from the face Schools usually regulate these things, but it is home reading that parents must look to.

If a child cannot see the blackboard in school, on which the writing shows plainly to other children, he should be taken to a doctor for examination—or if he has to hold a book close to his face to read.

If children live in a country where there is glaring light on snow, it is well to have them use yellow or brown glasses for part of the time at least.

A child with an abnormality such as cross-eyes, should be taken to a specialist as early as possible. The cure often depends on the early age at which treatment is begun.

THE Tinymites looked 'round and 'round, but not a single soul was found Wee Scouty ! p' on shouting "Hello, hello there. Who is near? We're just a band of Tinymites out here for fun, to see the sights. If anyone is near at hand, step out and bring us cheer."

"Oh it's no use," another said. "I think I'll flop, and rest my head. The sparrow still is sound asleep. He's all fagged out, I guess." So they agreed a n , they'd take, but Coppy said, "I'll stay awake and act as guard. If I shout loud, of course that means distress.

"As yet we do not know this place, and there may be a funny race of people living right near by who might do us some harm.' So, as the brilliant moon arose, the Tinymites began to doze, while Coppy stayed awake, all set to give quick alarm.

All through the night the bunch slept sound. When they awoke at dawn they found that Coppy and the sparrow both were at their morning meal. "Hurray!" cried Clowny, "here we come. We're hungry, too, and we want some. The thought of eating pleases me, because that's just how I feel."

They munched away an hour or so. Then Coppy jumped and shouted, "Oh! I thought I heard a funny noise. It sounded like a moo! Please, listen now, and keep real still. It seemed to come from o'er that hill. If anyone should find us here, I wonder what we'll do."

Then someone shouted, "It's all right." The Tinies saw a funny sight. A queer old man sat on a cow. He slowly rode up near. Then, pointing to the ground, nearby, he said, "You'll all be glad that I have come to show you Tinymites what wondrous things grow here."

(The Tinymites see some garden folks in the next story.)

NEW YORKERS CALL CENTRAL TO GET TIME

Of the 12,000 persons who have been calling New York's new time bureau every day of the past month to get the correct time, the great majority make calls between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening, telephone officials say.

This smacks suspiciously of friend wife casting a reflective eye at the clock and wondering if it isn't time to be putting the chops or stew on the stove Which hardly sounds as if all the wives were trotting home from delicatessen stores about that time, as the vaudeville comedians would have us believe.

Oh well, maybe it might mean 'most anything

"I like you," Tony Tarver decided aloud suddenly, as Harry Blaine, reporter on the Evening Press, guided her not very skilfully through a fox trot.

"Lady, you interest me strangely," he retorted with mock solemnity. "Let's duck out of this. I'm sick of being stabbed in the back by Dick Talbot's rapier glances of scorn and jealousy."

"I don't like to leave poor Crystal," Tony demurred. "But oh, there are Faith and Bob Hathaway, and George Pruitt. If Dick deserts her, they'll rescue her."

"So this is the famous 'necking jungle.' " Harry Blaine observed, as they entered the narrow belt of woods. "I say Tony Tarver, you're a dead game little sport."

"Why?" Tony demanded, truculent but pleased. "Because I refused to allow Dick Talbot to make an ass of himself? He's not really bad—just young and terribly spoiled."

"Because you saved a nasty situation and mended the torn cloak of another girl's self respect," Harry Blaine answered.

"Poor Crystal!" Tony was suddenly grave, her voice very tender. "She's a peach of a girl, really, under— under—" Tony hesitated loyally.

"Under all her posing and eye-fluttering?" Harry Blaine prompted. "I know the type. Most girls pass through the same attack of delirium tremers—scared to death they won't get their man, you know."

"I know I'd like you!" Tony exulted.

"I like you, too," Harry Blaine assured her, heartily casual, without any suggestive side glances or arm-squeezings.

" 'Like'! Isn't it a grand word?" Tony cried. "If you only knew, Harry Blaine, how much nicer it is than 'love'! I'm sick—for the present — of being made love to. Let's be friends, Harry—and I mean — 'friends' real friends!"

"Let's," Harry Blaine agreed, gripping her hand firmly, then dropping it without any silly extra pressure. "Now, as one friend to another, what can I do for you? Would you like for me to rush this Crystal person a bit?"

"Would you?" Tony cried. "I do think you're an angel! Try to fall in love with her just a little bit, so she'll believe in God again, but don't take her too seriously if she seems to fall terribly in love with you."

"Are you intimating that a girl couldn't fall seriously in love with me?" Harry Blaine demanded indignantly. "Now my feelings are hurt! . . . Let's get ready for our swim. There's the moon. Talbot and Crystal brought their bathing suits, too, so the curtain will now go up on the little comedy-drama you've been writing tonight . . . Me in the hero role! Me—a hard-boiled newspaper reporter!"

NEXT: Crystal is dragged in.

Composer Of "Ramona" To See Spain At Last

Mabel Wayne, New York composer of popular songs with Spanish themes, is going to Spain for the first time to hunt for new airs while enjoying a vacation.

New York—(AP)—The girl who sat in a New York apartment and made a fortune writing songs with Spanish themes is going to Spain— for the first time.

Miss Wayne who as Tin Pan Alley's only woman jazz composer has accumulated wealth estimated in six figures from royalties on three popular songs, will visit Andalusia. There she expects to write down hitherto unwritten folk music and later transpose it into gay jazz melody.

Miss Wayne formerly was a vaudeville pianist. She broke the Alley's masculine domination last year when somehow she drew inspiration from her West End apartment for the music of a song, "In a Little Spanish Town," which was popular all the way to Madrid and back again by way of Havana. She followed it with "Ramona," from which alone she has reaped $50,000 royalties. Now a third is enjoying similar success.

"Jazz is the voice of the modern age, but the ancient folk tunes of all countries, in fact all races, runs through it," she says, explaining her Spanish trip. "I have always liked Spanish music, and what I could catch second-hand in this country I tried to put into my songs. What's funny about going to Spain to get more of the same thing first-hand?"

She chose Andalusia in particular because she heard its folk music has "the virile, emotionally stirring qualities" associated with American jazz.

STAG CONVENTION THING OF PAST

BY ALLENE SUMNER

The daily paper that lies before me at this moment contains, on its front page, an account of a state convention of a men's luncheon club. But, accompanying the story, is a sizable picture of a group of women—wives of the club members, attending the convention with them.

There isn't anything especially noteworthy about that, of course; yet, when you stop to think about it, it is rather significant.

Not long ago the convention of a men's lodge or club was looked upon as a stort of escape. The members went "stag"; a wife who would have volunteered to go along would have been looked upon as a bit of an upstart. The men, quite frankly, wanted to get away for a while.

But nowadays—well, it's just sort of taken for granted, in most cases, that friend wife will go along. No entertainment committee handling such a function, for instance, would dare fail to provide for shopping tours for the women in the party; nor would it think of arranging a program that would not appeal to women as well as to men.

The fact of the matter is that the modern wife has learned how to be a pal to her husband. John Doe is actually discovering that he can have a better time if Mrs. Doe goes along than if she stays at home. And right there is something encouraging enough to offset all the tales about a rise in the divorce rates.

A family where husband and wife are pals isn't going to go on the rocks of marital discord.

FOUR HUNDRED RETURN FOR THE SOCIAL SEASON

BY ALLENE SUMNER

The society columns of the metropolitan dailies inform us that the "social season" is about to begin once more. The "important people" having returned from vacations at the seashore, abroad or in the north woods, everything is set for a new round of entertainments, teas, luncheons and what not.

Nothing sounds quite as snobbish as the tone used by some society editors. There is a bland assumption that only a few wealthy and fortunate women really matter—an assumption that reminds one of the indignation which made O. Henry reply to Wards McAllister's remark that there were "only 400 people in New York who count" with the jibe that the census taker said there were 4,000,000.

Nevertheless, there is a sort of glitter to the items in the society column that attracts most of us, I imagine, a good share of the time. The woman who manages a house and raises a brood of children on the average middle-class salary can hardly help, now and then, thinking: "How heavenly it must be to have nothing on earth to do but give and attend luncheons, bridge parties, teas and theater parties! And how heavenly not to have to worry about the cost of any of it, and not to have to do any real work connected with!"

225 STUDENTS IN MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Two hundred and twenty-five pupils out of an enrollment of 825 are enrolled in the vocal department at Appleton high school. The Boys Glee club has 60 members, and the Girls' 160, as compared with 40 in the boys' club and 70 in the girls' last year.

Reasons for the increase, according to Carl S. McKee, are the number of semi-trained voices which have come from the junior high schools, where music is taught once a week; the development of many voices at the high school; and the inspiration received by pupils at home through good radio and phonograph music.

Due to the high quality of voices enrolled in the music course, it now is responsible to attempt one of the major oratorios. Heyden's "Creation" will be given next spring with outside soloists. Last year the music group presented "Stabat Mater," and in future years it is hoped that it will be able to attempt oratorios such as the "Messiah" and the "Elijah."

"NOW IT LOOKS SO STYLISH!"
By Mae Martin

"I had a little crepe de chine dress of a very noticeable color," says Mrs. L—— of Seattle, Wash. "It was fashionable the season I bought it, but was decidedly out the next year. Then it faded in washing and I decided to change the color. I had never done any tinting or dyeing, and was very timid about it. But my neighbor told me I could do as well as anyone, with Diamond Dyes. I got the colors necessary to make the shade I wanted over the original color of the dress, and, to make a long story short, it turned out beautifully. Now it looks so lovely and stylish. I want to wear it all the time."

The simple instructions in every package of Diamond Dyes make tinting and dyeing so easy that anyone can do it. New colors go on just like magic, right over the old, faded colors. Tinting with Diamond Dyes is easy as bluing, and dyeing takes just a little more time. Diamond Dyes are true dyes. Insist on them and save disappointment.

My new 64 page book, "Color Craft," will help you with your clothes and home furnishing problems. Hundreds of dollar-saving ideas, illustrated in colors. It's FREE. Just write Mae Martin, Home Service Dept., Diamond Dyes, Burlington, Vermont.

Because of the difficulty of securing transportation, the children's chorus which was to accompany Dr. Earl Baker to Manitowoc, where he addressed the sectional teachers' meeting on Friday, was unable to make the trip. Many comments were made by the educators at the meeting about the progress of junior boys' singing in the Appleton schools.

Friday morning Dr. Baker spoke on Junior High School Music Problems, and in the afternoon he talked on What Can be Done Musically for Children in the Public Rural and Parochial Schools.

STURGEON BAY IS DEFEATED BY KAW GRIDDERS, 6 TO 0

Legion Squad Scores Touchdown in Second Quarter of Hard Struggle

Kaukauna—Outplaying a fast, light team; Kaukauna American Legion football squad triumphed over Sturgeon Bay, 6 to 0, at the Kaukauna ball park Sunday afternoon. got its lone score in the second quarter. It also had a chance to score in the last period when the ball was on the five yard line, but did not have the drive to put the oval over.

The teams were evenly matched and both sides played scrappy ball. The Sturegon Bay team never threatened to score, as the Kawmen were playing in its opponents territory most of the time.

Abrams, quarterback, and Fuller and Bridengagen played good ball for the visitors. Miller, Tillie, Verbaten, and Luzon showed up well in the backfield for the locals. Peters played a fine brand of ball at center and the opposing team made few yards through that place. Regenfus, guard, and Anderson, end, also did outstanding work.

Kaukauna kicked off. After outpunting the opponents, the Kawmen brought the ball to the10 yard line. The Baymen tighened and held for downs. Neither side scored in that quarter. Kaukauna scored in the second quarter after Donner nabbed a nice pass from Hovde, which brought the ball to the 10 yard line. Luzon ran the end for nine yards and then smashed the line for a touchdown. Kilgas was brought into the game to kick, but missed for extra point. The score at the end of the half was 6 to 0 in favor of Kaukauna.

Kaukauna kicked to Sturgeon Bay at the opening of the third period. The quarter was fought chiefly in the Bay's territory, though not far enough to be dangerous. Up to the end of the third quarter neither team did much passing. Playing was confined to lie plunges and end runs.

In the last quarter Sturgeon Bay opened up with trick plays and many passes. Luzon intercepted one and ran for a gain of 20 yards before he was hauled down. Miller passed to Hovde, who took the ball to the 10 yard line and after pushing the ball to the five yard line the team was held for downs.

The line-up:

Sturgeon Bay		Kaukauna

HIGH SCHOOL GRID TEAM VICTOR OVER STURGEON BAY, 13-0

Ott Team Carries Play into Opponent's Territory Most of Game

Kaukauna — Coach Elmer Ott's Kaukauna high school gridders won their second game in the Northeastern Interscholastic conference when they defeated a heavy Sturgeon Bay high school football team 13 to 0 at the Bay city Saturday afternoon. Kaukauna scored in the second and third periods.

Sturgeon Bay never threatened the Kaw goal line. Kaukauna was in the Bay's territory most of the game but lacked punch to take the pigskin over. Ikelberg, captain and right tackle, was the upstate's best bet in the line. E. Weber, fullback for the Bay team, played well.

Casey, midget quarterback for Kaukauna, did some good open field running in returning punts. Main and Ferguson played fine games at end. Miller and Esler did brilliant ball carrying and Landreman, center, held up the center of the line in fine style. The whole team showed a great improvement over the first two games of the season, and did some splendid blocking. Doering, who played at full back part of the game, showed up well in that position.

Kaukauna started a march down the field in the first quarter but repeated fumbles prevented them from scoring. Early in the second quarter Casey threw a shoestring pass to Miller who galloped 65 yards of the goal posts. The pass was declared illegal by the officials who ruled that Casey was not five yards behind the line of scrimmage when the pass was thrown.

SCORE IN SECOND

Kaukauna's first touchdown came in the latter part of the second quarter after the team carried the ball to the Bay's 10-yard line on a series of line plunges. Esler skirted the right end for six points. The extra point was missed.

In the third quarter Kaukauna again crossed the oponents' goal line. This time it was on an intercepted pass by Doering who ran 60 yards for a touchdown. Hanson kicked the extra point. Some brilliant blocking and interference was shown on this break of the game by his teammates. Twice in the last quarter Kaukauna had the ball on the one yard line and both times failed to score. The first time the team was penalized for having the back field in motion before the ball was in play. The second time a fumble spoiled the chance to score. A large number of substitutes were sent into the game at this stage of the game, and they did well against the more experienced Bay team.

The line-up:

Sturgeon Bay		Kaukauna
Wanke	LE	Doering
Augustine	LT	Hanson
Snelzer	LG	C. Bay

NEW JERSEY STATE TROUBLED BY MANY ELECTION ISSUES

Can't Tell Just What Will Be Major Problems in Voters Eye on Election Day

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington — Any student of politics who can get his sights down from attempts to envisage the elements of the Hoover-Smith bout in the country at large to contemplation only of the situation "over on the Jersey shore," as the one time Broadway song hit had it, will be rewarded by a close up of puzzling complexities.

It's mighty difficult to say with certainly what the New Jerseyites are going to be voting about as the major issue in their eyes when they go ot the polls in November.

MUTUAL PROBLEMS

Two years ago a group of republican stalwarts like Mellor, Hughes and others, in dinner table fashion talked over the intra-party problems such issues as prohibition, farm relief and power development had created for republicans and democrats alike. It was a private affair and frankness was possible. Some of those present described Mr. Hughes as having summed up matters finally in the statement that it would be a decade at least before the cross cleavages within each party on these questions would ease to impede the development of orderly, constructive legislaive programs by whatever party was in power in Washington.

The situation in New Jersey as it looks at this distance apparently typifies what they had in mind. For in New Jersey, Senator Edge, republican, and Senator Edwards, democrat, both wringing — and ringing—wets, are battling with equal vigor for their party presidential nominees As a matter of fact Edge can lay claim to an actual effort last year to modify the Volstead Act. A bill he introduced proposed to strike out the one-half of one per-cent alcohol limit and substitute for it prohibition of beverages "intoxicating in fact." That is the language of the Eighteenth Amendment. It is also, almost identical with the recommendation for modification Governor Smith pledged himself to make as president in accepting the democratic nomination. Yet Edge is for Hoover. He finds nothing in the Hoover pronouncement on modification to prevent his full support of the republican nominee.

WET ISSUE IN JERSEY?

One old New Jerseyite of republican faith contended to the writer that the election there was going to be "just a republican-democratic dog fight." His analysis of the prospects in November led to prediction of a Hoover plurality possibility ranging up to 200,000 although he admitted the state was overwhelmingly wet in sentiment and champing on the bit for early prohibition modification. Increased "white collar" commuter population from New York with increasing cross-river transportation facilities, the strength at one time of the Ku Klux Klan in New Jersey, the ebbing labor population in textile mill centers as these great industries open new and larger branches in North Carolina or elsewhere in the south, the importance voters in a great industrial and manufacturing state attach to tariff protection; all these things entered into this particular Jerseyman's calculations.

All of which is interesting and might be very illuminating —about Nov. 7. But if prohibition is not to be an important campaign issue in very moist New Jersey, what about farm relief in the corn belt or power legislation in the mountain states? What is this election about, any way?

GRANT WON IN 1868 THOUGH PRO-SLAVE BEFORE CIVIL WAR

General Never Voted Republican Ticket but Won Party Nomination

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In this chapter of "The Presidential Parade," Dodney Dutcher tells of the events leading to Grant's much discussed administration. It is the seventeenth of the series reviewing presidential politics since Washington's days.)

* * *

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

(Copyright 1928, by Post Pub. Co.)

Washington— The political wrangling and the battle over President Andrew Johnson after the Civil War left the people so disgusted with party politicians that in 1868 the Republicans nominated a Democrat and the Democrats nearly named a Republican.

General Ulysses S. Grant was the great popular hero. But he had never voted the Republican ticket, not even for Lincoln in 1864, and had sided with the pro-slavery Democratic ticket in 1860.

Republican leaders, anxious lest the next president give the vanquished south enough political liberty to regain control, wanted a stronger party man. But popular clamor was unmistakable and they proceeded to take Grant away from his old party Grant turned down the Democrats and went Republican because the latter party had sympathized with him when Johnson had tried first to get him out of the country and then to supersede him.

OHIO'S ENTRIES

President Johnson, elected on a Republican ticket with Lincoln, also sought the Democratic honors. Johnson had tried to carry out the Lincoln reconstruction policies, but wasn't big enough for the job in the face of a radical Congress which feared that the solid south would renew its pre-war domination of national politics if not held down.

The Republicans convened first at Chicago and nominated Grant unanimously. A large portrait of Grant was unveiled, inscribed "MATCH HIM!" and a white dove let loose to flap about the hall. A trio of clan lans sang a hastily composed doggerel song, "We'll Fight It Out on the Old Union Line," which became a campaign slogan with Grant's famous "Let Us Have Peace." Speaker Schuyler Colfax of Indiana was named for vice president and the platform coupled denunciation of Johnson's "treachery and corruption" with a demand for equal rights for negro voters.

The Democrats met at Tammany Hall on July 4, wondering how to "match him." Their great old leader, Stephen A. Douglas, might have led them to victory had he not died during the war, famous for his dictum: "There can be no neutrals in this war—only patriots and traitors."

"Gentleman George" Pendleton of Ohio led the field, with the field determined to beat him. Three hundred Pendleton rooters marched into the hall bearing greenback emblems, but they were up against the same Tammany that was to pack Madison Square Garden against McAdoo in 1924. Southern delegates were for Johnson and the soldiers for General Winfield S. Hancock. Johnson had a distinct chance, but the strongest undercurrent was for Chase.

SEYMOUR STAMPEDE

The controlling politicians re-adopted the two-thirds rule and sank Pendleton, who withdrew on the 19th ballot, leaving Hancock and Hendricks of Indiana high men. New York and Pennsylvania bosses then played these two against each other, allowing neither to win. Governor Horatio Seymour of New York left the chair to work on the floor for Chase. But "Slippery Sam" Tilden, who had yet to break up Tammany's vile Tweed ring, had been busy crucifying Chase and gets sole credit for blocking him.

Seymour suddenly received votes on the 22d ballot and promptly refused to be a candidate. But a Seymour stampede followed as if by rehearsal. General Frank P. Blair of Missouri landed in second place. Johnson had received 65 votes on the first ballot, but never gained.

The platform charged the G. O. P. with submitting the south to military depotism and negro supremacy, abolishing the bill of rights, with frauds, monopolies and "corruption and extravagance exceeding anything known in history."

Then it demanded payment of war bonds in "lawful currency," when possible. This meant paying a large section of war bonds in greenbacks, then worth something like 50 cents to the dollar because of the enormous war-time issues of paper money.

The plank enraged the eastern bondholding class and the Republicans called it repudiation, but it appealed to the masses and the party raised the slogan, "The same currency for bondholder and plowholder." This was the beginning of the use of money as a political issue which was to culminate in 1896 and solidified the support of northern business and industry which the Republican party had captured with its high tariff and anti-slavery planks in 1860.

CARPET-BAGGERS

Grant's election was never in doubt, although the Democrats polled 47½ per cent of the vote. The Republican carpet baggers (so called because they were hungry politicians said to have traveled south to gain political control with negro support after packing all their belongings in a satchel), held the south by the aid of the military. Only the rising Ku Klux Klan made Georgia and Louisiana Democratic. With the solid south, Seymour would have won for the Democrats, and this fact spurred the Republican Congress to new measures to insure votes for the ex-slaves.

Frauds were charged in Louisiana and a congressional investigating committee later charged that:

"Over 2000 persons were killed wounded and injured there within a few weeks of the election; half the state was overrun by violence, midnight raids, secret murders and open riots, which kept the people in constant terror until the Republicans surrendered all claims." In Caddo parish "the Ku Klux killed and wounded over 200 Republicans, hunting and chasing them two days and nights through fields and swamps." after which "the masses of negroes were captured by the Ku Klux, marked with badges of red flannel, and led to the polls and compelled to vote the Democratic ticket."

BALLOT-STUFFING

But Grant carried the Carolinas, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama and Florida, with Texas and Mississippi not voting, for a national majority of 300,000.

He lost New York by exactly 10,000 votes, the returns said, and this queer result was laid to the ballot stuffing of the Tweed Ring, done to protect large bets made by Tammany's faithful. The popular and electoral vote:

Grant	3,013,000	214
Seymour	2,703,000	80

TOMORROW: An unequalled period of national corruption.

Appleton High Defeats West Green Bay, 9 And 0

Line Shows Power But Wet Field Slows Up Backfield

Kunitz Scores Touchdown, Kranhold Boots Place Kick for Scores

Displaying a comparatively smooth working line but showing sloppy ball carrying, Appleton high school football team crashed through to a 9 to 0 victory over West Green Bay Saturday afternoon in Whiting field. The game was the first for the Shieldsmen in the valley conference and while not impressive shows the eleven has possibilities.

The game was a costly one however, for it robbed Shields of the use of "Red" Manier for several weeks. The husky tackle chipped a cheek bone and probably will be out of play for weeks. His place was taken by Abraham who, although light, played a crappy game.

Play was in Green Bay territory during most of the game, Popp's hefty booting keeping the northerners far within their own territory although he was aided by Kunitz who ran Bay punts from ten to 20 yards to offset the longer boots of Dickey, Bay halfback.

Appleton scored its touchdown early in the third quarter when the Orange opened with a smashing line attack that drove the Bays back until Kunitz smashed a yard and a half to take the ball over. The try for the point failed.

Appleton's last scoring came in the closing seconds of the game when, with the ball on the Green Bay 15 yard line, Kranhold booted a difficult kick from placement.

FIRST QUARTER

Green Bay kicked to Elias and the Appleton team went into a huddle, one of the half backs coming out with the ball and was downed on his own 20-yard line. A long forward pass failed and Popp punted to the Green Bay 20-yard line. The team exchanged punts Appleton gaining about 20 yards.

On the next play Kunitz made five yards around end and Green Bay was penalized for being offside. The Bays held and Appleton punted to the Green Bay five-yard line, McGahan receiving the ball and returning it 35 yards. When McGahan fumbled Appleton recovered the ball on its own 35-yard line where the locals were penalized 15 yards for holding. On the first play after the penalty Berg attempted a pass which was intercepted by Olsen. The Bays attempted a series of line plays and failed to gain punting to Kunitz who recovered on the Appleton 35-yard line and he brought it back about five yards.

Menier, Appleton left tackle, was injured in the play and was replaced by Abraham. The teams exchanged punts and Appleton had the ball on its own 35-yard line. The Appleton line was playing great ball both on defense and offense but sloppy running by the backs was preventing any long gains. The teams again exchanged punts and when one of Popp's boots rolled to the Green Bay ten-yard line an Appleton player downed it. The Bays immediately chose to punt and when Kunitz returned the ball about 15 yards it was on the Green Bay 20-yard line. The quarter ended Appleton 0, West Green Bay 0.

SECOND QUARTER

When play was resumed a long pass Schaefer to Kunitz was grounded. Appleton then tried a place kick from the 25-yard line but it was short and Green Bay immediately punted Kunitz being downed on his own 25-yard line. A line play failed and Popp got off a bad punt which went out of bounds on his own 40-yard line. The Bays were thrown for several losses and punted to the Appleton 18-yard line. Two plays failed for Appleton and Popp punted out of bonds on his own 35-yard line.

The Bays then opened a forward passing attack and Schaefer, Appleton end, intercepted one returning it about five yards to his own 40-yard line. Appleton gained 18 yards on line plays but Green Bay then held and was forced to punt and West took the ball on its own 25-yard line. The Bays were thrown for several losses and punted to Appleton's 35-yard line. Holterman, replaced Popp at full back for Appleton.

After another exchange of punts, which gave Appleton the ball on its own 43-yard line, the locals fumbled but were given a first down on two Green Bay penalties. The ball was then in midfield. Crane replaced Kunitz for Appleton and made nine yards through the line. Appleton then attempted a forward pass which was intercepted by Dickey, Green Bay half back and he ran five yards and was downed on his own 49-yard line. Green Bay was thrown for a 12-yard loss as the half ended. Score 0 to 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Appleton again chose to receive the kickoff and Kunitz scampered about 45 yards to the Green Bay 45-yard line before he was downed. A forward pass was intercepted by the Bays and they took the ball on their own 28-yard line. There were several exchanges of punts and with the ball on their own 35-yard line Appleton started a series of line plunges which carried them about 40 yards. Popp and Bartman did most of the plunging, the latter dashing through the line for 25 yards in one attempt.

However when the locals approached the Green Bay 20-yard line they were held for downs and forced to give up the ball. Green Bay immediately punted and Appleton got possession of the ball on its own 35-yard line. A line play netted a few yards and the Bays were penalized 15 yards for piling. Berg replaced Crane at quarterback for Appleton. With the ball on Green Bay's 32-yard line Kunitz dashed around left end for 21 yards to the Green Bay 11-yard line. A series of forward passes in an effort to score, were all rounded and the ball went to Green Bay.

The Bays immediately punted and when Kunitz returned about 15 yards the ball was on the Bay 28-yard line. Bartman dashed eight yards on the first play and when Berg ripped off another ten yards the ball was on the Bay ten-yard line. Line plunges by Popp and Kunitz netted about seven yards. Another smash by Popp netted a yard and a half. The ball was only a yard and a half from the goal line. On the next play Kunitz carried it over—Kranhold's kick for the extra point was wide. Appleton 6, West Green Bay 0.

Appleton kicked to Green Bay but the Bays punted on the first down and the locals got the ball on their own 40-yard line.

Appleton took time out and gained about two yards as the quarter ended.

FOURTH QUARTER

Appleton failed to gain on a series of line plunges and punted to Green Bay. The ball went behind the posts and was brought to the 20-yard line. The Bays punted and Kunitz brought the ball back 10 yards to the Bay's 40-yard line. Failure to gain and a five-yard penalty forced Appleton to punt. With the ball on their own 20-yard line the Bays attempted an end run but failed to gain. The Bays punted to Kunitz who ran the ball back about 14 yards to the Green Bay 30-yard line.

A line play failed and Appleton opened an aerial attack which netted no gains and Green Bay got the ball on its own 30-yard line. The teams exchanged punts and Green Bay, obtaining possession of the ball on their own 30-yard line, punted to Kunitz who was downed in midfield.

After a line plunge had failed Berg scampered about 14 yards to the Green Bay 36 yard line where Kunitz made about six more yards. Downer replaced Breitrick at left guard for Appleton and DeYoung went in for Winter. When Bartman slid off tackle for 15 yards the ball was carried to Green Bay 15 yard line. The Green Bay line strengthened and held for downs on their own ten-yard line. Punting out of danger the ball went out of bounds on Green Bay's 34-yard line.

Douglas replaced Kunitz who was dazed after being injured. After a forward pass Berg to Popp netted about six yards Popp crashed through the line for five more and the ball was on the Bay's 15-yard line. Douglas sneaked through for five more yards. A line plunge and a pass failed to net any gain and Popp then stepped back and placed-kicked a goal as the game ended. Appleton 9, West Green Bay 0.

EAST BAYS PASS TO WIN OVER FOND DU LAC

Green Bay—East Green Bay defeated Fond du Lac High by the score of 25 to 0 here Saturday. East depended mostly on passes, completing 10 out of 16, two of them good for touchdowns, and the others taking the ball deep into Fond du Lac territory. Shekore of East High gave a fine exhibition of open field running, making 10 to 40 yards on almost every attempt. Schmidt, Fond du Lac, lived up to his reputation as a smashing fullback. Kennedy, Fond du Lac quarterback, also starred for the visitor, making a 70-yard run off a kickoff.

The passing of Daman, East fullback, was the best seen on the local gridiron for a long time. Two of his passes were caught by Becker for 40-yard gains and touchdowns.

BADGERS LEAD IN BIG TEN SCORING

Humbert, Illinois Fullback Has Scored Five Touchdowns

Chicago—(AP)—"Gloomy Gus" Thistlethwaite's big Wisconsin team, conqueror of Notre Dame and Cornell college of Iowa, has piled up 69 points to take the lead in the race for big ten football scoring honors.

Against Notre Dame, the Badgers drove over three touchdowns and Booted over an extra point and in Saturday's game with Cornell, they rammed over seven touchdowns and as many kicks for extra points. A Notre Dame safety, which added two more, was not counted in the scoring tabulation.

Illinois, feasting on two non-conference foes, Bradley Tech and Coe college, was in second place with a total of 64 points, while Minnesota was third, chalking up 53 points against Creighton and Purdue. Wisconsin also has scored the most kicks after touchdown, missing only one in 10 attempts.

Only three teams, Minnesota, Ohio State and Iowa, have yet to be scored against.

Statistics show field goals are somewhat of a lost art in the big ten this season. Only two have been registered. They were made by Barratt of Ohio State and Hughes of Indiana.

The point tabulation, showing number of games played, touchdowns, points after touchdown, field goals, total team and opponents' points:

Team	G	TD	PT	FG	Total	OP
Wisconsin	2	10	9	0	69	6
Illinois	2	10	4	0	64	6
Minnesota	2	8	5	0	53	0
Ohio State	2	7	6	1	51	0
Chicago	3	7	5	0	47	25
Iowa	2	6	3	0	39	0
Purdue	2	5	1	0	31	15
Indiana	3	4	3	1	30	7
Northwestern	2	2	2	0	14	10
Michigan	2	1	1	0	7	23

Fritz Humbert, Illinois fullback, is leading in individual scoring with five touchdowns. Ken Bartholomew of Wisconisn is second with 19 points and Brockmeyer of Minnesota is third with 16.

KAUKAUNA WINS FROM BAYS, 13-0

Esler and Doering Score Touchdowns as Ottman Outplay Heavy Upstate 11

Sturgeon Bay—Outplaying a heavy Sturgeon Bay team on the local field Saturday afternoon, Kaukauna high school football team won its second conference game by a score of 13 to 0. Kaukauna scored in the second quarter and again in the third quarter.

Esler skirted the right end for 20 yards in the second quarter after a series of line plunges carried the ball to the 20-yard line. The Kaws also scored again in the third period when Doering intercepted a pass and romped 60 yards for a marker. Hanson kicked the extra point.

Sturgeon Bay failed to threaten the Kaukauna goal line during the game. In the second quarter Kaukauna tried a shoestring pass, Casey to Miller and the later raced 65 yards to the goal line but was called back because the pass was illegal. The officials ruled Casey wasn't five yards behind the line of scrimmage when the pass was thrown.

Kaukauna had the ball on the one-yard line twice in the last quarter but the Bays held both times for downs.

Esler, midget Kaukauna half back, was the bright light of the Kaws. He made frequent gains of 15 and 20 yards, passing through the line almost at will. He was taken from the game in the third quarter, however, when his leg was injured.

The Ottmen displayed a fine brand of football and their blocking and tackling exhibitions were excellent. The backfield played good ball.

Lawrence Impressive In Battle With Veterans

Whistle Ends First Half With Blues on Maize Six Inch Line

BY DON OREN
Sports Editor, Carletonian

Northfield, Minn. — Displaying a power in the last quarter that would admit of no defeat, the fast Carleton team today scored a dramatic win over the powerful Lawrence college aggregation, the score at the end of the fracas being 12 to 6. Carleton came from behind in the last quarter and unleashed a plunging attack that carried the ball from the 20 yard line to a touchdown after Simso had returned a Lawrence punt from the 45 to the 20 yard line.

The game was closely played throughout with both teams making threats to score. In the first half Carleton had the edge in offensive strength, making eight first downs to the visitors' three. Smart playing on the part of the Lawrence team made the game closer than this comparison would indicate, the ball being in midfield most of the time.

The first quarter was a nip and tuck affair with neither team making any serious threats to score. Towards the last of this period Fischl punted on his own twenty-five yard line, the kick going high and Carleton recovered on the Lawrence thirty-five yard line. Cable made three yards through tackle. Then Broberg plunged through center for ten yards. Salvi made three more and Broberg added ten to put the ball on the nine yard line. Salvi made four more yards to put the ball on the five yard line as the first quarter ended. Cable scored on the first play of the second quarter when he dashed off tackle for the remaining five yards.

Carlton kicked off to Lawrence at the opening of the second quarten Fischl receiving the ball on his own 10 yard line and returning it to his own 30 yard line. For some minutes the ball remained in midfield. Cable punted from his own 25 yard line, Lawrence getting the ball on the 50 yard line. Bloomer dashed 10 yards and a Lawrence plunge added three more. Then a Lawrence pass was allowed on this 30 yard line because of interference. Bloomer then shot a beautiful pass to Rasmussen who ran to within six inches of the goal before he was downed. At this point the half ended. Rassmussen managed to wriggle over the goal line but the whistle had been blown and the touchdown was not allowed.

Lawrence opened the second half when Fischl kicked over the goal line, Carleton punted back to the Lawrence 40 yard line. Two plunges and two passes brought the ball to the 35 yard line where the Carl line stiffened and Lawrence lost the ball on downs.

Broberg plunged for five yards and Cable added three more. Broberg made it first down, A plunge by Salvi added a yard and then Cable tore off 14 to put the Ball on the Lawrence 38 yard line. Cable passed to Stuckslager for 18 yards. Plunges by Cable, Broberg and Salvi brought the ball to the one yard line where the Lawrence defense stiffened and Carleton lost the ball on downs.

Fischl kicked from behind his own goal line to the Carl 40 yard mark. Lawrence showed stiff opposition and Cable was forced to kick. Laird blocked the punt and Lawrence recovered the ball on the Carleton 35 yard line. Lawrence was penalized five yards for taking too much time to put the ball in play. Bloomer then shot a pass to Rasmussen who caught the heave on the Carl 20 yard line and carried the ball to within three yards of the goal before he was downed Three plunges were unsuccessful. Bloomer then shot a pass to Laird for the touchdown. St. Mitchell place-kicked the extra point to make the score 7 to 6.

Carleton scored late in the fourth quarter when Simso caught a punt on the Lawrence 45 yard line and ran in back to the 18 yard line. Six smashes at the Lawrence forward wall weakened the defense so that Broberg was able to score to make the count 12 to 7. Simso missed the attempted place kick.

Broberg in the backfield and Sartoris in the line were the stars for the winners. Broberg was always good for yards whenever he was called upon to carry the ball frequently making eight to ten yards. He was helped materially in his yard gaining activities by the assistance of Sartoris at left tackle over whom most of the yards were made.

Probably the outstanding man in the visitors lineup was Laird at left end. He blocked the punt that led to the Lawrence touchdown. He in fact scored the Lawrence touchdown on a pass from Bloomer. He was always down under the punts and flashed an all around game at end.

Bloomer at quarter showed good stuff, running the team nicely and heaving passes that kept the Maize goal always in danger. Rasmussen showed a pretty ability at pass receiving nearly scoring once and going to the four yard line the other time. Barfell at full was good getting away for occasional runs of some yardage and playing a strong defensive game.

KOTAL SHOWS AND PACKERS WIN, 20-0

Former Lawrence Star Instrumental in Bays Three Touchdowns

Green Bay—(AP)—The Green Bay Packers defeated the Chicago Cardinals in a national professional football league game here Sunday 20 to 0. The Wisconsin team excelled in every department of the game and displayed a varied attack.

The first touchdown came in the second quarter when Kotal, Packed backfield star, made a 35 yard run around left and across the goal line. In the same quarter, a long pass, Dunn to Kotal carried the ball to the Cardinal one-yard line, and Lewellen carried it over on the next play.

In the fourth quarter Kotal tossed a 30 yard pass to Lewellen who was downed on the Cardinal one-yard line. Lewellen then repeated his scoring performance of the second quarter and slipped through for the third touchdown. O'Boyle, former Notre Dame player, kicked two out of three goals.

The Cardinals, playing old rivals in the Packers, threatened only once, then when O'Boyle fumbled the ball on his own 20-yard line. After making gains on the next few plays, the Packers line held and the Chicago team lost on downs. Lewellen's punting was consistently good, one of his efforts going 85 yards.

Kotal, Lewellen, O'Boyle and Perry starred for the Packers while McDonald and Erickson, were the Cardinal mainstays.

Coming Games May Show More Football Upsets

Ohio to Meet Michigan While Notre Dame Goes to Georgia Tech

Chicago—(AP)—With a startling succession of upsets already in its wake, although the season is only a few weeks old, the 1928 college gridiron campaign seems certain to witness a record turn-over.

The ranks of the ordinarily mighty have been unusually hard hit in the October onslaught. Any gridiron Rip Van Winkle who snoozed off only a month ago would be amazed to wake up at this early stage of the game and find uch stalwarts as the Navy and the Michigan yet to win a single contest, with Pittsburg, Penn State, the Texas Aggies, Notre Dame and Stanford also among the ranks of the beaten clan.

The Navy, which has not scored a point in three successive games against Davis and Elkins, Boston college and Notre Dame, will make a desperate attempt to check its losing streak against Duke university this Saturday. But the Midshipmen, if they are to turn back the southerners, must put together a much smoother working attack than they exhibited to the gaze of a record crowd of 122,000 at Soldier Field Saturday in dropping a 7-0 decision to Notre Dame.

Michigan, experiencing the most disastrous start any Wolverine eleven has known under the guidance of Coach "Hurry-Up" Yost, faces Ohio state this week without much solace in sight. This is the last season for the Buckeyes under the coaching of Jack Wilce and they are out to atone for the 21-0 setback administered by Michigan last year. To judge from the way they beat Northwestern Saturday, 10-0, they probably will do so.

Notre Dame regained some prestige by defeating the navy, following its walloping at the hands of Wisconsin, but the Hoosiers have not yet acquired the usual polish of Rochne-coached eleven. They have another battle on their hands this week, playing Georgia Tech at Atlanta, but it will behoove the Southerners to watch out for the shifty ball-carrying efforts of Chevigny and Niemiec, as well as a pair of reserves named Colerick and Caridea, who played major roles in beating the Navy here.

The intersectional tangle has another bright spot in the clash of Syracuse and Nebraska, two unbeaten and powerful outfits, at Lincoln, while Colgate roams westward to encounter Michigan State.

In the East, Army's strong eleven, after easily disposing of Providence, moves down east to resume a rivalry with Harvard that was left off 18 years ago. The Crimson, after somewhat impressive victories over Springfield and North Carolina, figure to give the Cadets a real battle.

The "Big Ten" chase is still wide open, despite the setbacks received by Michigan, Northwestern and Chicago. Wisconsin, Minesota, Iowa and Illinois are in the unbeaten class but the Illini face a rugged test against Indiana, which took its first Michigan scalp last week.

KIMBERLY BEATS ST. JOSEPH TEAM

Forward Pass and Intercepted Pass Give Papermakers Scores

St. Joseph parochial school football team lost its first game Sunday afternoon when it dropped a 12 to 0 decision to the Junior Holy Name Society team of Kimberly at Wilson Junior high school. A crowd of about 500 persons saw the game, both teams having large cheering sections. The game was the second in two weeks for the Kimberly eleven.

Connie Frank, flashy little St. Joe halfback was the star of the local team getting away for several good runs. Schiedermayer, captain of the local squad and a tackler got off several long punts. However, the locals seemed to have been struck with stage fright and played a far inferior game to the one they are capable of playing.

Lyle VanderVelden scored the first touchdown for Kimberly in the first quarter on a forward pass. The second counter came in the closing minutes of the third quarter when Jake VanLuer, intercepted an Appleton pass and ran 35 yards for a touchdown. The tries for point both failed.

Next week the local aggregation goes to Menasha to play the St. Mary school team.

BELOITERS LOSE TO NORTH CENTRAL

Off Tackle Smashes Net Illinois School Score in Second Period

Beloit—Scoring a touchdown early in the second quarter after a series of off tackle plays had taken the ball straight down the field, North Central of Naperville, Ill., defeated Beloit here Saturday afternoon, 7 to 6.

The local eleven, outweighed more than 10 pounds to the man, was on the defensive most of the way. The only chance to score came in the third period when they worked the ball to North Central's 25-yard ribbon but a 15-yard penalty for holding proved costly at this stage and North Central broke up two forward passes.

Kerth, giant fullback, who carried the ball on four out five plays for North Central, was the star of the winning aggregation. He plunged through the Beloit line for repeated yardage and it was he who lunged over for North Central's touchdown. Williams added the extra point with a place kick. Rasey, quarterback, did most of the [illegible] for Beloit while Stape played a nice game at end.

It was the first defeat in three starts for the Beloiters.

U. W. Win, Marquette Loss, State Games Of Interest

Milwaukee —(AP)— Twelve football dishes were served to Wisconsin fans over the weekend, and after the melee was over two outstanding topics remained for after-dinner discussion.

One is the splendid showing university of Wisconsin made against the Cornell aggregation in turning back the invaders 49 to 0 and the "Reserves" against North Dakota State. The other, reserved until the meal is well settled, was the disappointing showing of Marquette university against Drake university when the Milwaukee Hilltoppers lost, 26 to 7.

While the Cornell warriors were not expected to give the Cardinals a hard battle, the ease with which the Badger Big Ten entry toyed with the threat portends evil for the conference opponents and justifies the placing of Wisconsin along with Illinois as the favorite contenders for the conference mythical championship. A better slant as her real strength will be gained Saturday when Coach Thistlethwaite sends his gridders against Purdue.

Marquette's disastrous defeat can be traced to its light line and Drake's heavier team. For years Marquette has been proud of its heavy powerful lines, but graduations and casualties have cut in desperately. This weight handicap is expected to be lamentably noticeable Saturday again when the wears of the Gold protect their stadium from the invation of the Oklahoma A. and M. college.

Carroll college, holder of three state collegiate championships, brushed Lake Forest college at Lake Forest, Ill., out of its path when a fierce fourth quarter attack netted three touchdowns for a 19 to 0 victory. It was the second game for the Carroll Pioneers.

Aside from the Carroll-Lake Forest game, which was hard fought, the Lawrence college defeat at the hands of Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., was the only state college team game with much thrill or the outcome of which was uncertain until the final whistle blew. The Appleton gridders were ahead, 7 to 6, up to the last three minutes of play when the Minnesota collegians shoved over a touchdown.

Among the normal schools of the state, the hopes for stiff games were unfilled. Oshkosh defeated Platteville 20 to 0 at Platteville Saturday with an offensive that had the home team baffled from the start. The Eau Claire-Superior game, expected to be a hardfought one, turned out to be a one-sided fray with Superior the better, 25 to 12. The line smashes attack of Superior was more effective than the aerial threat of the home team. River Falls, in its invasion of Stout Institute, took an immediate liking to their temporary surroundings and romped around the home team for a 12 to 0 win. After faking a bold stand in the first part of the game, the Stout line crumbled before the repeated hammering of River Falls.

REDMEN VICTORS OVER LUTHERANS

Halverson to Martin Aerial Attack Brings Doehling Team Counters

Ripon—Staging a brilliant aerial attack in the second and last periods, Red Martin and his fellow ball toters crossed the Gosling goal twice to defeat the Northwestern college eleven here Saturday, 12 to 0.

Led by the sensational Martin, Ripon's premier quarterback, the Halverson-to-Martin aerial combination clicked perfectly to give the Redmen 14 first downs to the Goslings' six. A wet field which caught an early afternoon shower, slowed the game and brought serious fumbles by both teams.

Ripon's first counter was spectacular as Red returned Fritze's short punt to Northwestern's 35-yard line only to be pushed back 20 yards on the next play. While being tackled the speed demon tossed to Bahrs who regained 17 yards in a spectacular dash. Another pass, Halverson to Martin, put the ball on the Goslings' five-yard line from where Heinz slashed the wall for the first marker.

A similar spectacle was witnessed in the last period when Halverson again tossed a 20-yard pass to Martin, who raced 25 yards for the last touchdown.

The work of the veteran Haefner featured the play for Northwestern, as he skirted end and slashed off tackle for the Goslings only extended runs. Coach Carl Doehling used many of his reserves in the closing period.

GAME ASSOCIATION PLANTS PHEASANTS

Thirty-two more pheasants were planted in the county Friday by members of the Outagamie-co Game Protective association. There now have been 46 birds put out during the last year by the association. Those placed in the woods Friday were more than a year old and some of the best birds put out so far. About half were hens, the other half cocks.

NUBBY HILLER TO MEET WRESTLER AT SHAWANO

Stephensville—Nubby Hiller, well known local wrestler, will defend his undefeated record against Peajack Peterson of Shawano, the welterweight champion of the thirty-second Division of the A. E. F. Hiller's weight is 148 and Peterson's 152 pounds. The match will take place at the Stephensville auditorium on Friday evening, Oct. 19. Good preliminaries will be given by local boys. The bouts, which will start at 8 o'clock are being promoted by James B. McLaughlin of Shiocton.

LAST PERIOD RALLY WINS FOR CARROLL

Play Tieless Ball for First Three Quarters; Bizer Stars

Waukesha,—Carroll college in a "fourth quarter outburst" of superior football, passed and plunged over and through Lake Forest college of Lake Forest, Ill., to score three touchdowns and win Saturday after battling to a tie the first three periods of the game. The final score was 19 to 0.

Carroll made good use of its passing combination, Goerke to Masters, which was far superior to the punting of Lake Forest. The visitors relied upon their punting to keep the ball in Carroll's territory. This was done in the first half and then a new Carroll team took to the field and the tide changed.

During the third quarter the two teams battled evenly, but determined to win, Carroll fought its way down the field to the Forester's 25-yard line at the start of the fourth quarter, from where Masters scored on a pass from Goerke.

Lake Forest kicked off again, and this time Carroll carried the ball to the Forester's 30-yard line, Plunging and dashing around the ends, and then a pass, Goerke to Masters, tallied another score for Carroll.

The final score came when Masters slipped through an off tackle play and Orlebeke kicked goal.

With eight minutes left to play, Lake Forest took a hard setback when it was penalized half the distance to the goal for slugging, which put the ball on the 18-yard line.

The Foresters were unable to penetrate Carroll's line. Carroll depended on its passing game, and the line plunges of Capt. Bizer.

IT'S HIM ALL RIGHT, OFFICER. YOU KEEP THE REWARD. GETTING THAT CROOK OUT OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD IS REWARD EE-NUFF!
SURE LOOKS LIKE HIM -
I'LL GET YOU FOR THIS, WHISKERS, REMEMBER!!
$500 REWARD DEAD - ALIVE JACK DAWSON
THE NEW NEIGHBOR, WHO HOLDS A GRUDGE, SPOTS A FAMILIAR MAP ON A "WANTED - DEAD OR ALIVE" PLACARD AND HE GRABS THE CHANCE TO MAKE LIFE A LITTLE MORE COMPLICATED FOR THE GUNNS BY HAVING POP PINCHED AS A SUSPECT
THIS IS NOT THE FIRST TIME THAT POP AND THE NEW NEIGHBOR PROVED THAT THEY COULD LIVE SIDE BY SIDE ABOUT AS PEACEFULLY AS TWO STRANGE ORPHANS DIVIDING AN APPLE
STEAL MY AERIAL, WILL YOU?!
OUCH!
- AND YOU HAVE BEEN MISTAKEN FOR THIS CROOK BY EVERYONE. I AM SORRY WE HAD TO ARREST YOU BUT THE RESEMBLANCE IS STARTLING -
THE ONLY GUY I HAVE A BONE TO PICK WITH IS THAT NEIGHBOR WHO HAD ME PINCHED -
WHILE POP'S ARREST MAY HAVE CLEARED UP THE REASON FOR ALL THE MYSTERIOUS ASSAULTS MADE UPON HIM - IT FANNED INTO A WHITE HEAT THE OLD DISLIKE FOR THE NEW NEIGHBOR
WHEN I GET THROUGH EMPTYING PUNCHES ON THIS NOSEY NEIGHBOR HE'LL HAVE TO PASTE SO MUCH COURT PLASTER ON HIS MAP HE'LL LOOK LIKE A LABELED GRIP OF A ROUND-THE-WORLD TRAVELER -
UNTIL NOW, IT WAS POP'S AVOWED INTENTION TO CATCH THE BE-WHISKERED NEIGHBOR IN THE HALL AND SQUARE ACCOUNTS, BUT THE INTENDED VICTIM HAS BEEN GIVING POP THE SLIP BY USING THE FIRE ESCAPE

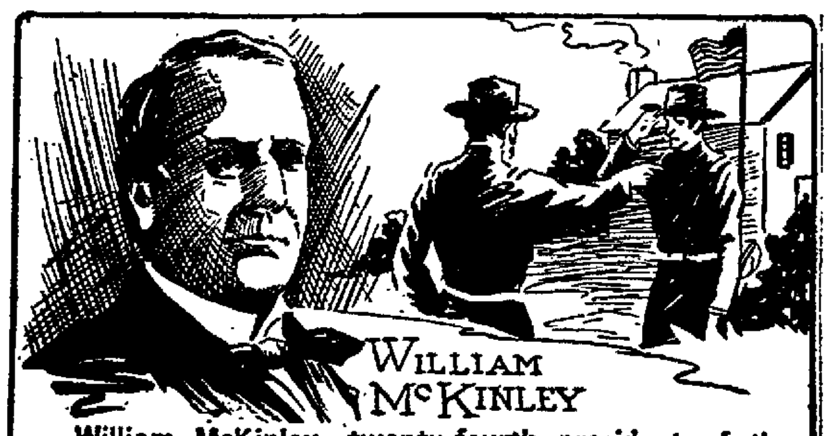
Our Presidents

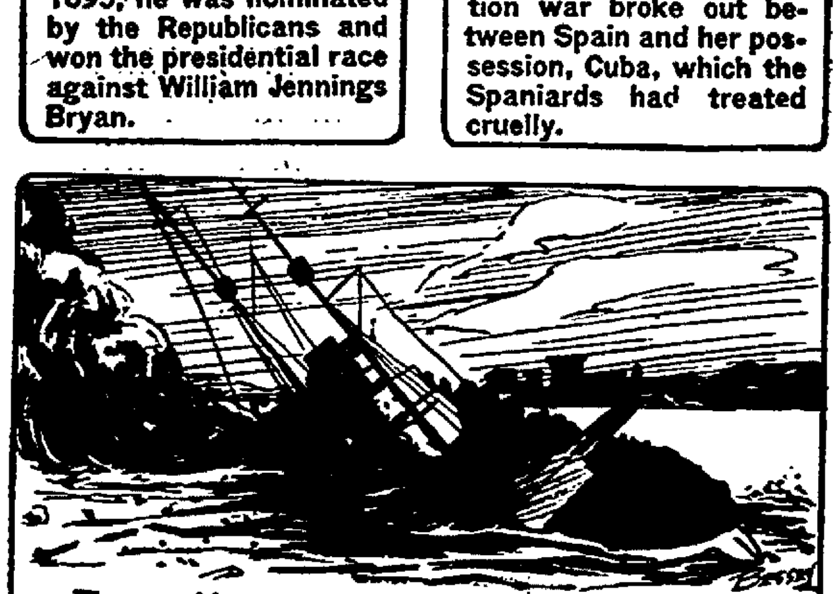


William McKinley, twenty-fourth president of the United States, was born at Niles, O., and started the practice of law in Canton. He entered the Civil War though but a boy in years and rose to the rank of major. In 1869 he was elected prosecuting attorney and eight years later was chosen United States Representative.

By NEA. Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge. Copyright, 1923-25.

After serving as governor of Ohio from 1891 to 1895, he was nominated by the Republicans and won the presidential race against William Jennings Bryan.

During his administration war broke out between Spain and her possession, Cuba, which the Spaniards had treated cruelly.



The president sent the battleship Maine to Havana to inquire into reports that many Cubans were dying of starvation. The Maine was blown up in the harbor and many officers and sailors killed. Spaniards were suspected of the act. President McKinley said war on Cuba must stop. Congress declared Cuba free. Spain refused to remove her soldiers and war began.

SCHIELD ACCEPTS PRINCIPALSHIP OF MILWAUKEE SCHOOL

Resigns Position With Emanuel School—Will Go to St. James Church School

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—H. W. Schield, for more than three years principal of the Emanuel Lutheran school and for that same time director of the choir and organist at Emanuel church, severed his connection with local affair on Sunday when the church committee acted upon his resignation here. The change comes as a result of Mr. Schield's acceptance of a position as organist, choir director and principal of the parish of the St. James Lutheran church at Sixtieth and Lloyd-sts, Milwaukee. He will remain here until the board of education of Emanuel church has secured a successor.

Mr. Schield expressed his entire satisfaction with the new location, it being a young congregation with a small enrollment of pupils in the school, but with excellent prospects for enlargement. It is situated in one of Milwaukee's finest residential sections and Mr. Schield has been assured that a new school will be built during the next two years in which six Lutheran schools of the community probably will combine their interests. The church has but recently dedicated its new $16,000 Wangelan electro-pneumatic organ which will be played by Mr. Schield.

Mr. Schield is a graduate of Concordia Teachers' college at River Forest, Ill., an accredited junior college, is eligible to teach both public and parochial schools. Mr. Shield's work here has been of a very high type and the enrollment of the school has increased greatly during his principalship. He had prior to being located here taught at Antigo, Portage, Port Washington and Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Schield's new home is now ready for them.

FIRST BRANDT GOOSE OF SEASON SHOT ON LAKE

New London — The first Brant goose to be taken in this locality was shot on Cinco lake on Friday by George Meartz, a local hunter. The single goose flying across the lake presented an excellent target as it neared the cover on the marsh where the hunter waited. Brant geese are rare in this region, as during migration this species usually takes a course along the Atlantic sea board. According to nature students the birds live during the summer in the far Arctic regions. The one taken by Mr. Meartz weighed about five pounds, which is the usual weight, as the Brant is much smaller than the familiar Canada goose and differs too in its appearance, having the same light body, but an entirely black neck and head.

3 OLD-TIMERS SAY CAMPAIGNS NOW DULL

Fairfield, Wis.—(AP)—Political rallies have lost their romance for the three survivors of the Fairfield Martial band which for 60 years has played its way through many states and national campaigns.

"Torchlight processions on horseback, with the band up in front in a four-horse wagon, made your blood tingle," said W. S. Guinter, original snare drummer. "It does not seem so inspiring to ride in a motor truck."

Sylvester Belville, bass drummer, and Theodore Bennett, fifer, are survivors of the 11 original menbers of the band.

Guinter thinks the Garfield campaign was the most exciting of the fifteen he has taken part in.

John Masefield is said to be engaged upon a poem dealing with some of the legends of the Knights of the Round Table.

Watch Fat Depart
Note the New Youth, New Vigor

This is what countless people have been doing, for 20 years, to get and keep the slender figures you see everywhere today.

Medical research has found that a great cause of excess fat lies in a defective gland. Food which should turn into fuel and energy goes to fat.

After thousands of experiments on animals, a way was found to combat this condition. Physicians the world over have since employed it in the treatment of obesity.

The method was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, perfected by a famous medical laboratory. These Marmola tablets have been used for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Anybody can see, in any circle, the amazing results of this method. New youth and beauty, new health and vigor. Slender figures are the rule.

Wherever you look you can see the change. Excess fat is now the exception. Youthful slenderness prevails. Excess fat is a blight which nobody should endure. Try this way to correct it. No hard work, no starvation is required. Simply take four Marmola tablets daily until weight comes down to normal.

Every box contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. You will know exactly why the fat departs and why new vigor comes.

Try this method, which is right and scientific. Do this in justice to yourself. Accept the help which for more than 20 years has meant so much to so many. The day-by-day results will be a revelation to you. Start now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

FINANCIAL

Cost Reduced Almost One-third On Loans $10 to $300

The Household Finance Corporation, by reason of large volume of business, efficient management, and favorable credit facilities, attained after fifty years of operation, is now making a very substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300.

You can borrow from us for about one-third less than we formerly charged, and about one-third less than the maximum lawful rate. For example, total cost on $50 for one month is $1.25; for five months, paid in five equal monthly payments, is $3.75. All other amounts up to $300 at same proportionate rate.

If you have a loan elsewhere, let us explain our new reduced rate and tell you how much you will save by borrowing from us.

You get the money without delay, return it in small monthly payments, arranged to suit your conventions. Each payment of principal reduces the interest.

No endorsers. No one need know. Our service is personal and confidential. We do not notify your employer, neither do we make inquiries of your relatives or tradespeople.

Loans made in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute and other nearby towns.

Berry, who has lived and studied with the actors in Oberammergau, will impersonate 18 different characters as the pictures are presented. Dr. Berry is a world traveller who has been a keen student of the countries of the earth, their governments and their relation to one another. He was an orphan at the age of six, a worker in the Union Stockyards of Chicago at 16, superintendent of schools at 25, ordained minister at 34, and pastor of one of the largest churches in Chicago at 39. In his spare moments he visited the leading countries of Europe, studying in the Syrian cities, Athens, and traveling over the African deserts, the Nile valley and Arabia.
